RELATIONS WITH FRANCE HIGHLIGHTS MAC'S VISIT

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan flies to North America this week for talks in Washington and Ottawa that take on a new aspect with the developments in France.

The talks can be expected to decide on a joint approach to Gen. Charles de Gaulle in an effort to ensure his loyalty to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Western military strategists are privately worried about the future of some defence bases—especially in North Africa.

The prime minister will spend Friday night in Washington, fly to de Pauw University in Indianapolis to deliver the commencement address Saturday, then return to Washington for top-level talks Monday and Tuesday. He flies to Ottawa Wednesday.

Federal Sales Tax Cash Asked For Civic Gov't

By JOHN MIKA

Diversion of the 10 per cent federal sales tax into municipal coffers was proposed today by the president of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

L. D. Jackson, mayor of Hamilton, Ont., advanced the suggestion at the 1958 convention in the Empress Hotel "entirely on my own responsibility," when he delivered the 1958 presidential address to more than 400 delegates.

"Such a move on the part of the federal government would be an important contribution towards easing the municipal financial burden and would fully protect the independence of the municipalities," he said.

Unofficial tally of delegates and wives attending the convention was placed at 600 today with more expected to turn up. Bulk of the delegates arrived Sunday after special arrangements with Black Ball Ferries and Vancouver Island-Coach Lines were made to get them over from the mainland in spite of the seamen's strike against CPR ferries.

Convention opening ceremonies included a devotional period led by Rev. H. J. Jones of St. Mary's Anglican Church, Oak Bay.

Welcomes were extended to delegates by B.C. Municipal Affairs Minister W. D. Black and Mayor Percy Scurrell. Windsor Mayor Michael Patrick welcomed visiting U.S. mayors and Calgary Mayor D. H. MacKay welcomed visiting provincial ministers of municipal affairs and their deputies.

Mayor Jackson said municipal governments were in the "front line trenches" of the battle to meet increasing demands for the services by all three levels of government.

"The bulk of municipal financing is based on real estate and business taxes which do not respond to rises in the price structure as do the revenue sources of provincial and federal governments.

'Soon Pass Out of the Picture'

Along with his suggestion, Mayor Jackson vehemently opposed any move to municipal leaders to ask senior governments to take over municipal problems that become burdensome.

"Too often we hear of municipal organizations and individual mayors appealing to the senior governments to take over this or that," he said. "If we

NO VICTORS BUT PLENTY OF VANQUISHED

A quick-witted Tory brought the house down today at the opening ceremonies of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities convention.

Calgary Mayor Donald MacKay, welcoming provincial ministers, asked if there were any representatives of the federal government present.

"If we haven't, we've certainly got a lot of unsuccessful candidates," quipped an unidentified delegate, touching off a roar of laughter and table thumping.

"Let's put that down as the classic joke of the convention right now," replied Mayor MacKay, defeated Liberal candidate in the last federal election.

government) is the most important level of government because we are closer to the people," he said.

With municipal revenue sources stripped by the senior governments, municipalities "too long in this triumvirate of government have been taking an inferior position."

The crux of the problems facing municipalities is lack of adequate revenue sources to meet rising costs and demands for services.

Mayor Jackson suggested the federal sales tax as "a direct and simple way for the federal government to assist municipalities" because it is relatively stable, broad and uniform in application and has not been branded as objectionable by the general public.

He said he was against municipalities shedding any of their responsibilities because local government "is the very fabric of our Canadian life. When local government becomes a mere spending arm of a higher level of government, we might

Strike Mediator 'Not Too Hopeful'

A shadow hung over the possibility of an early settlement of the steamships strike today with the reported statement by federal mediator Eric Taylor that he was "not too optimistic" about the outcome of a meeting scheduled for later today between CPR and the striking Seafarers' International Union.

Mr. Taylor made the statement in Vancouver after separate meetings during the weekend with management and union representatives at a secret rendezvous.

Meanwhile, new talks are expected to get under way Tuesday between Black Ball Ferries and three unions seeking pay increases.

The SIU, as well as the National Association of Marine Engineers and the Canadian Merchant Service Guild have voted to strike Black Ball to back up pay demands, but no deadline has been set.

Public Power Policy Set For Columbia River Hydro

HANDS ACROSS THE BORDER

International friendship theme of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities convention here was exemplified by this handshake between Los Angeles Mayor Norris Poulson

(left) and Mayor Percy Scurrell. Mayor Poulson said attending convention was "just like crossing the street to visit your neighbors" when replying to official welcome.

Star Witness Accused Of 'Ulterior Motive'

VANCOUVER (CP) — The crown's key witness in the Sommers bribery trial today was again charged by the defence with having "an ulterior motive" while employed as a bookkeeper for one of four companies accused in the case.

The accusation came from defence counsel J. R. Nicholson as accountant Charles Eversfield, formerly with Pacific Coast Services Ltd., took the stand for the eighth day.

Eversfield flatly denied having any such motive.

The trial before a jury of nine men and three women now is in its 18th day and is expected to run at least until the end of June.

Central figure is former-lands and forests minister Robert Sommers who resigned his portfolio in 1956 but still is a member of the legislature. Also charged in the 18-count indictment are H. W. Gray, John Gray, C. D. Schultz, the C. D. Schultz Company Limited, Pacific Coast Services, Evergreen Lumber Sales and B.C. Coast Products.

PAPER AMMUNITION

Mr. Nicholson questioned Eversfield closely on a number of "working papers" which he compiled while at Pacific. They were among bundles of documents which he took from company files when he left in March, 1955, and which now form the basis of the Crown's case.

Scott opened the case for Frank Roncarelli, a one-time wealthy businessman, now a salaried employee with the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, whose business was ruined after his liquor licence had been revoked by the Quebec Liquor Commission in Dec. 1956.

Roncarelli is asking for $90,000 damages from Duplessis on the grounds the licence was suspended on the personal order of the premier.

Scott said what was at stake was the right of a citizen to put up bail for accused persons without interference from civil authorities.

Roncarelli had put up $83,000 bail for 393 Jehovah's Witnesses for 2½ years before his licence was revoked. Scott pointed out all the Witnesses were charged for infractions of "petty by-laws" (distributing religious pamphlets in Montreal), that none was charged with sedition and none of more than 1,000 charged was convicted.

GOV'T ASKS ANOTHER $58 MILLION

OTTAWA (CP) — The government today informed Parliament it will require an additional $58,151,061 in estimated expenditures for the current fiscal year, boosting total anticipated outlays to a record of about $5,800,000,000.

De Gaulle Runs Into Trouble

Assembly Limits Special Powers

PARIS (UPI) — Premier Charles de Gaulle won approval today for two-thirds of his program designed to save France from chaos.

But he faced a major legislative battle on the remaining, and perhaps most critical, part of his proposals in the reluctant National Assembly.

A government spokesman issued a statement strongly implying that de Gaulle might let France slip into virtual anarchy unless he wins on all three issues.

The deputies voted 322 to 232 to allow de Gaulle to run France for six months without parliamentary interference. But the Assembly completely rewrote the bill to limit sharply the areas in which he could rule by decree.

Earlier, it had quickly passed, 337 to 199, a bill extending the government's emergency powers in Algeria—powers that had been given routinely to a succession of French cabinets.

STUMBLING BLOCK

A third bill to permit changes to be made in the constitution by the people rather than by the Assembly was still up for consideration. And it could be the stumbling block to de Gaulle's success.

The general has insisted that he receive approval for all three measures before he acts to solve the crisis that almost provoked civil war.

"These bills remain an absolutely essential previous condition on setting up a government," a spokesman for de Gaulle said.

"It is not until after all three have been adopted by parliament that de Gaulle will complete his cabinet and will define the functions of the ministers and secretaries of state he has named."

The Assembly voted the tall, grim-faced wartime leader into office by a vote of 329 to 224 Sunday night.

The general made his sweeping demands in a cold, calm six-minute speech to the hushed chamber. He needed the powers, he said, to avert a "break-up and perhaps civil war" in France.

Rising also to plague the new government was mounting disappointment in Algiers over membership of the de Gaulle cabinet.

A particular sore point was the selection of de Gaulle's predecessor, Pierre Pflimlin, as minister of state. Only last week Algiers thugs were demanding: "Pflimlin to the gallows."

Latest reports from North Africa indicated there were good reasons for de Gaulle's hurry.

COMPLETE POWER

The French army Sunday night clamped a virtual martial law regime on Algeria, giving the army under Gen. Raoult Salan — French commander-in-chief there — complete power over the civil administration.

The decree signed by Salan was issued after indications that the more extremist French settlers in Algeria were deeply disappointed by de Gaulle's program speech and cabinet list.

In particular, they were reported bitter that it did not include Jacques Soustelle, fiery de Gaulle supporter.

Bennett Announces Decision by B.C.

By PETE LOUDON

Premier W. A. C. Bennett today announced the huge hydro development of the Columbia River—when approved by federal and U.S. authorities—will be by a public agency, rather than a private firm.

He added, "But I didn't say the B.C. Power Commission."

He said if a financial partnership in the project is reached with the federal government, Ottawa authorities may ask that a separate public hydro corporation be set up. He did not rule out the B.C. Power Commission as the developing body, however.

The premier said, "We hope the power developed will be available to both private and public power distribution. But the actual development will be a public power project."

The premier's statement ended three years of speculation. CCF members in the legislature have repeatedly questioned the government on the development.

The announcement was contained in general remarks by the premier concerning the provincial convention of the CCF in Vancouver over the weekend. The convention renewed the party's stand for public development of all B.C. power. Party leader Robert Strachan claimed the next provincial election will be fought primarily on the issue of public power.

He said the Social Credit government and previous governments had acted to preserve the prosperity of the largest private power corporation in the province, the B.C. Electric. "The B.C. Electric has never lost an election," he said.

Blossoming Into Political Issue

The timing of the premier's statement on public power appeared to support the importance of the issue politically.

"I note the issue is now clear-cut between the Social Credit middle-of-the-road policies and state socialism," said Mr. Bennett.

"They have again endorsed the Regina Manifesto. The people of B.C. should not be lulled into thinking it is just the B.C. Electric (which would be taken over). That's just a stepping stone."

"Social Credit believes in both public power and private power. The CCF would take over the existing private power at a cost they admit to be in excess of $400,000,000, and they wouldn't create a single new job."

"The Social Credit government is always developing new power, creating new jobs and new industries. We certainly wouldn't use the people's money. We would use the credit of the province. . . .

"When the federal government settles with the U.S. on downstream benefits, power, irrigation and flood control . . . as I have intimated before, development will be by public power. It will create new jobs and prime the economy of the province."

"The CCF would put the bold hand of state socialism on the industry of the province," he added.

Federal government studies on the Upper Columbia River development are still incomplete. Important reports are expected by the end of this year, concerning best methods of using the river potential.

The basic plan is for a high level dam at Mica Creek, just south of the Big Bend of the Columbia. Five years ago it was estimated to cost $800,000,000. It would produce 1,200,000

Khrushchev Hits At NORAD Pact

OTTAWA (CP) — Russian Premier Khrushchev says Canada must share some responsibility for the "peace-endangering flights of American planes with atomic and hydrogen bombs to the borders of the Soviet Union."

He makes the statement in a letter dated May 30 delivered to Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Soviet Ambassador to Canada, Saturday, by D. S. Chuvahin, Soviet Ambassador to Canada.

The letter was published in today's issue of the Soviet news bulletin issued here by the press office of the Russian Embassy.

Premier Khrushchev also reproaches Mr. Diefenbaker for not persuading the United States and Britain to halt nuclear testing.

Referring to the flights of American bombers, the Soviet premier said:

"We state with profound regret that the government of Canada has not refrained from sharing with the government of the U.S.A. to a certain degree the responsibility for such flights; this is testified to by the recent signing of an agreement between the U.S.A. and Canada on the unification of the command of the air forces of both countries."

Premier Khrushchev was referring to the North American Air Defence Command established jointly by Canada and the United States. The two countries signed an agreement May 1957.

All-Canada Cartoon Stars Daring Pilot

A new all-Canadian cartoon strip of high-adventure makes its bow on Page 12 today.

Its name is "Danny Fortune" and its locale covers the northern hemisphere, from Victoria to St. John's and from Niagara Falls to the North Pole.

The central figure, Danny Fortune, is an RCAF pilot who flies the fastest and the best in the jet age.

During the weeks to come you will follow him over the Arctic wastes, trailing spies in Ottawa, testing Canada's latest CF 105 aircraft, on rescue missions into the wilds, in fact, on anything the RCAF assigns him.

Danny is the creation of two ex-RCAF pilots, Bob McCormick and Bill Dulmage. Bob is a graduate of Ontario College of Art and Bill, who does the writing, from Carleton College School of Journalism.

Together, through Danny's personification, they do the things they'd still love to be doing since the days when they put their wartime flying experiences behind them. Start the strip on Page 12.

LONDON (Reuters) — A former business executive Sunday confessed in a front-page newspaper story to the slaying of a car dealer for whose murder he had been acquitted.

Donald Hume, 36, said in his Sunday Pictorial confession that "I murdered Stanley Setty in my flat" Oct. 4, 1949.

"I stabbed him to death with a dagger while we were fighting," he said. At his trial in 1950, Hume denied he killed Setty.

He was found not guilty of murder but guilty of being an accessory in dumping Setty's dismembered body from a plane over the Essex marshes.

He was sentenced to 12 years in prison but was released last February after eight years.

Under British law a man cannot be retried for a crime of which he has been acquitted.

12 formally setting out principles governing operation of an integrated headquarters at Colorado Springs.

The Soviet premier was replying to a strongly worded letter he received early in May from Mr. Diefenbaker expressing Canadian disappointment over Russia's United Nations veto of an American proposal for Arctic inspection.

Premier Khrushchev had appealed in a letter to Mr. Diefenbaker early in April for Canada to use her influence to get the U.S. and Britain to stop testing nuclear weapons.

CULTIVATE DISTRUST

The Russian premier said reservations and doubts expressed by Mr. Diefenbaker make it difficult "to avoid getting an impression that they are engendered in the last analysis by that distrust towards the Soviet Union which is constantly being cultivated in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization."

"For instance, your letter presents the matter in such a way as if the actions of the Soviet government against the peace-endangering flights of American planes with atomic and hydrogen bombs to the borders of the Soviet Union in a way reduce the importance of its (Russia's) decision to stop, from the spring of 1958, testing all types of nuclear weapons."

"Not to mention that those arguments contain a great deal of artificiality since they treat as similar such actions completely different in their nature as the cessation of nuclear weapon tests, and the clearly provocative practice of the American strategic aviation; the very appraisal of the actions of the U.S.A. government in this matter is extremely one-sided."

DANGER TO CANADA

It would seem, the letter said, that leading statesmen of Canada, over whose territory the U.S. bombers are making flights "should not be indifferent to these flights, which also constitute, if the facts are to be faced, a grave danger for Canada itself."

"If there were quite a few occasions in the past when countries were drawn into wars contrary to their wishes and intentions then in our times this danger has increased a hundred times."

"You will probably deny the correctness of this statement," Premier Khrushchev told Mr. Diefenbaker. "Indeed, you will be most likely to do that referring to the good intentions of your people and your government."

"I am not going to question the sincerity of your arguments. But, Mr. Prime Minister, the logic of things can prove to be stronger than man's logic even if the latter is backed by the best motives."

Khrushchev asked whether the reaction of the Canadian government would be different if Russia started sending bombers carrying atomic bombs to the frontiers of Canada.

TO U.S.S.R. BORDERS

The Soviet premier said the present danger to peace is not constituted in the absence of aerial inspection in the Arctic but "exclusively in the flights of American bombers to the borders of the U.S.S.R."

He said he had expected to find in Mr. Diefenbaker's letter assurance that Canada would attempt to persuade the U.S. and Britain to stop nuclear testing.

"Some foundations for this were given to us by your recent statement in Toronto where you expressed the hope that the Western powers would soon end nuclear-weapon testing. Unfortunately your letter does not confirm this."

Kilowatts—half the total capacity of all existing hydro installations in B.C. at present.

Depending on the amount of downstream benefits returned to Canada by power developments in the northwestern states, the low cost power source means billions of dollars in primary and secondary industry in the Pacific Northwest.

One authority claims that for every dollar of cost expended on the Mica-Creek proposal, the province can expect to realize up to $65 in production.

The question of whether the Columbia hydro development will proceed depends also on what steps are taken to develop the hydro potential of the Peace.

It was recently announced excellent dam sites have been located on the Peace by engineers of the Wenner-Gren survey. If the B.C. government cooperates in this vast development scheme, there is some question whether the Columbia development would proceed.

Soviet Boats 'Suspicious'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state department has notified Russia in response to a Soviet complaint that the U.S. Navy is keeping close watch on shipping in the ocean approaches to the United States.

Moscow had protested that U.S. aircraft had buzzed Soviet trawlers in international waters near the "Grand Banks" off Canada.

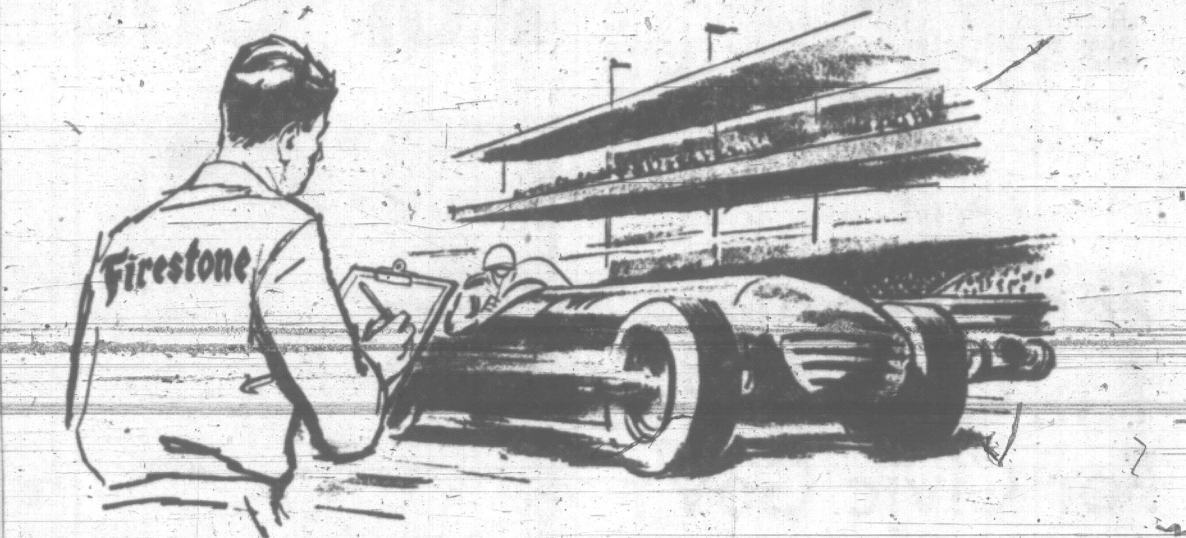

State department press officer Lincoln White said the Soviet complaint was made about mid-April and that it received a prompt answer.

Privately, informants said that the behavior of the Soviet trawler fleet along sea and air routes between the U.S. east coast and Europe is suspicious in some respects.

The Russian vessels were said to be in waters which are not normally heavily fished. They seem to have a large amount of electronic detection equipment such as radar. The number of vessels is constant, one arriving as another departs.

A bone ailment prevented Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City from attending the opening of the 21st annual Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities convention in the Crystal Garden today.

Mayor Wagner cancelled his reservations Saturday when he suffered an attack of bursitis.

Mayors See Swim Show At Crystal

More than 600 civic leaders and their wives from all parts of Canada watched a group of swimmers plunge into the Crystal Garden pool Sunday night before plunging into a hectic three-day convention themselves.

The visitors, attending the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities convention, were entertained at a civic reception and aquacade in the Crystal Garden arranged by the Greater Victoria municipalities.

A Bit More Money And Plastic Case Will Save Balloons

The solution to the sagging balloon problem has been reached.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgeclow, chairman, Greater Victoria centennial committee, says the remedy is to cover the rubber bladders with plastic to prevent the canvas outer coverings from rubbing the rubber in Victoria's winds.

In an effort to save money, he says, workmen previously only covered the top halves of the balloons. But they still were through at the bottom. All balloons are being taken down and completely repaired.

The President's Threat

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER'S first venture into the Congressional election campaign is remarkable. He had been expected to arouse the Republican Party and denounce the Democrats by something like Mr. Truman's "give 'em hell" technique. Instead, the President delivered a quiet, thoughtful speech which left the professional Republican politicians bitterly disappointed.

For Mr. Eisenhower three current issues submerge all others. He demands a re-organization of the military administration under an all-powerful secretary of defence; a large program of foreign aid; and the extension of the reciprocal trade agreements legislation.

Though it is not made in so many words, the President's threat to the Republican legislators is perfectly clear. He will support, next autumn, those who vote for his three-sided policy. He will not support those who vote against it.

This is a formidable threat. For without the President's coat tails to ride on, many candidates for the Senate and the House of Representatives will not ride far next November.

Moreover, the Republican candidates are playing on what the British call a decidedly sticky wicket.

In the first place, the Republican administration has suffered greatly in public esteem from a business recession and many blunders of foreign policy. Secondly, the power of the President is inevitably waning as the end of his second and last term of office comes into sight. Thirdly, the arithmetic of this year's election is loaded against the Republicans.

The whole House of Representatives goes to the polls and a third of the Senate. Of the 34 Senate seats at hazard 21 are held by Republicans, 13 by Democrats. Only nine of the Republican seats are considered safe. The Democrats are conceded an edge in all but two of their constituencies.

For these reasons no one in Washington seems to doubt that the Democrats will capture both Houses of the Congress again, and probably with an increased majority.

This, of course, is entirely the business of the American people, in which the comment of foreigners will not be welcome. But foreigners have a vital stake in two items of the President's policy.

Any reduction in his foreign aid program would seriously affect many impoverished nations, now hesitating between the free and the Communist world. The repeal or emasculatation of the reciprocal trade agreements legislation would damage the free world's hope of expanded trade and recovery from the present recession.

What happens, therefore, in the present Congress during the next few weeks is a matter of the highest international importance. All nations—and none more directly than Canada in the field of trade—will feel the results of the President's success or failure as he comes to final grips with his own party, which has never been fully converted to his liberal philosophy and broad, internationalist views.

Monty's Farewell

FIELD MARSHAL VISCOUNT Montgomery, apparently as wiry in the mind as in the body, is making his rounds of NATO countries, including Canada, to say farewell to comrades in arms.

The old soldier, "Monty," fades away from 50 years of military life and the post of Deputy Supreme Commander of NATO, in September.

Before he goes, he has certain opinions to express. Some of them concern the military alliance of which he has been second in command. Some of them concern Canada.

A man who seems never to have found time to develop the polished touch of diplomatic flattery, he still flatters Canada. The countries of NATO, he says, are looking to this nation for a lead. "He would like to see it provide a 'robust leadership'."

And, adds the man of blunt words: "I would like to see Canada develop a foreign policy of its own—not tacked on to somebody else's."

Viscount Montgomery has never been accused of circumlocution. He says it as he sees it because "I'm not in the least interested in whether I please you or not."

Canadians will be little disposed to accord a brittle reception to the field marshal. They know his reputation too well and admire him for the soldier he has been. And if he implies some criticism of Canada's foreign policy, Canadians should be mature enough to tolerate it.

Certainly they will listen with attention to his views on the future of NATO.

That alliance, in his opinion, cannot stand still, confident that the nuclear arm which would make aggression an act of ruinous folly for the aggressor is enough today as it has proved over the past years.

The principal function of NATO, according to Montgomery, is to prevent war altogether. He speaks from the background of a half-century in military affairs when he states that if you want peace you must understand war. It will be a great day, he thinks, when political leaders can so alter the world that peace will not depend on an understanding of war, presumably because war will no longer be a consideration.

Until that day arrives, the Montgomery type seems essential. No one in this country will ever forget his contribution through his practical understanding of war to the cause of victory—a contribution which made his name a legend in North Africa and Europe.

As he prepares to leave his post, he emphasizes his concept of NATO. It calls for close unity.

"The threat," says Montgomery, "is global, and the common policies of NATO countries must be practised on a world-wide scale. It is ridiculous to suppose that we can be allies to the north of a certain parallel and pursue our contradictory national policies to the south of the same line."

This is his concept and in Ottawa the field marshal said the countries of NATO are looking toward Canada for a lead. Perhaps that lead could develop out of present Canadian foreign policy, which seems to have escaped Monty's notice.

From a Wing-and-a-Prayer

THE OTHER DAY TRANS-CANADA Air Lines flew a new route which permits a person to lunch in London one day and in Victoria the next.

Already officials of the company are looking forward to reducing the flying time and increasing the frequency of the flight.

And while they work to that end, Trans-Canada pioneer, who has helped to bring about this marvel in transportation—a marvel not limited solely to TCA—is withdrawing from the scene. Mr. Donald R. MacLaren, executive assistant for the Pacific area, is retiring.

It is surprising, in this day, to realize that his flying life has spanned aviation development in this region from its inception after the First World War to the present. Yet Don MacLaren was one of the men who started that development.

He came to Vancouver with a great record as a war ace—fourth among such Canadians as Bishop and Collishaw—and created Pacific Airways with two war surplus flying boats in 1924. His abilities and his interest in flying carried him through the pioneering stage of commercial work to senior office in TCA.

From the days when bush pilots flew "by the seat of their pants" to the present, when piloting the huge airliners is a complex and highly specialized task, Don MacLaren has been an outstanding figure in aviation. As he leaves the company, friends in all parts of the world will wish him happy landing.

United Church on Divorce

IT IS INTERESTING TO NOTE the position taken by a group from the United Church of Canada on this country's divorce laws.

The board of evangelism and social service of the B.C. Conference of the church says:

"Enlightened public opinion will not tolerate forever a divorce law which, in practice, makes adultery the only grounds for divorce."

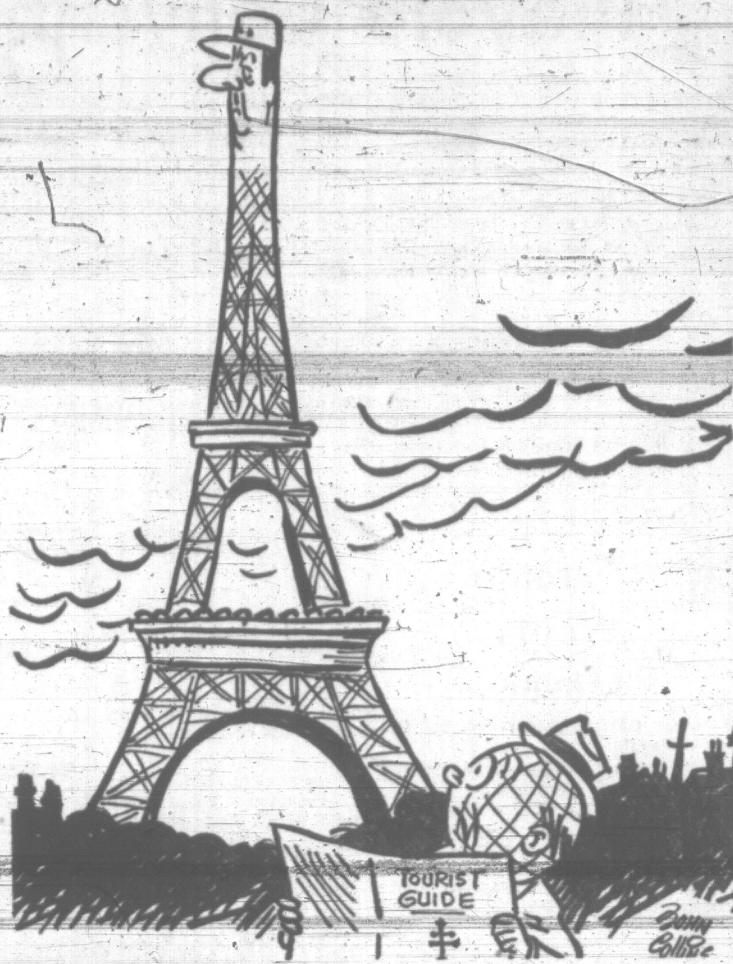

Because the law is such in Canada, Canadians have grown accustomed to seeing the principles of law and justice abused by such well-known practices as collusion and the fiction of adultery. Since bad laws do not work, that covering divorce in this country often becomes a shoddy sham.

Our law on that issue is one of the most restrictive in the world. In time the Canadian people will insist on its liberalization to cover causes for divorce other than adultery. But the process of change is slow.

The report from the B.C. United Church of Canada committee represents another of the drips of water which will eventually erode an archaic piece of legislation.

HARD SELL, SOFT HEART

By B. A. TOBIN

O Weep No More Today

THE story goes that a high school graduate was offered a job with a large men's clothing firm if he could sell a certain suit. The suit in question had been with the store for many years: it was a light yellow in color, with large green dots and purple stripes. The youngster was left alone in his department with the hideous garment—and nothing was heard from him for an hour. Then he made his way to the manager's office. His clothes were torn, his face and hands scratched and bloody, but he shouted, "I've sold it!" "You must have run into a lot of sales resistance from the customer," said the manager, looking him over. "No," said the youth. "I didn't have any trouble with him. But what a fight I had with his seeing-eye dog!"

Not much of a story, perhaps, but it's a good illustration of what is known in the promotion trade as the hard sell. For a long time after the war the soft sell predominated. The salesman didn't need to beat you over the head to make you buy. In fact, it was the other way round; there weren't enough goods to meet the demand. People carried favor with salesmen in order to get a chance at the washer, the radio, the new car or refrigerator.

If a salesman did work at the job he would use the soft approach—the beating-around-the-bush technique that lets the customer sell himself on the merits of the product.

But as production caught up with demand there came a switch-over. The buyers tightened up and became more choosy. The salesman had to work to make a sale. He had to overcome mental resistance from the prospective customer, and use all his ability to do it. He had to think up gimmicks, gags, dodges, angles, come-ons, and other technical aids.

Up and at 'Em

The final flowering of this trend seems to be demonstrated in the person of a fellow named Heartstill Wilson. He is described as a Detroit automobile executive who is famous as the "Billy Graham of salesmanship."

Now that nickname ought to be sufficient warning. Billy is strictly a hard-sell man, pounding home his message by every means at his command. Our Detroit friend evidently brings the same emotional fervor to his own field, with the result that his victims end up thinking they have to have a new car or their soul is lost.

A recent news picture shows Mr. Heartstill Wilson—and if he isn't known as Hard-Sell Wilson by now he can count himself a failure—with his trousers rolled up above his bare knees and shouting into a lapel microphone.

In addressing a large crowd of Toronto car salesmen—and I'll bet there were a few gimlet-eyed specimens in that crowd—he quoted the Bible, threatened, and pleaded with tears—real tears it says—in his eyes.

He also lost two pounds during his exhibition. In addition to what dignity he might have had, and any interest I might have had in buying from him.

But the latter is beside the point. Heartstill seems to have wrapped sales and souls in a grand economy-sized package, and he's bound to get a lot of your former even if he loses his own latter.

The art of salesmanship seems to me to fall into two categories. There is the appeal to a potential customer who wants to be a customer, in which case the job is to direct his desire towards your particular brand rather than the other fellow's.

And there is the appeal to a potential customer who does not want to be a customer, in which case you have to convince him that he wants what you have to sell and ought to buy it.

The first type is merely directing an existing need into the proper channel, i.e., your channel. The second involves the creation of a need and then its fulfillment. In other words, you take a perfectly contented, happy man, stir him up with new longings and desires that he didn't know he had but now can't endure, and then dash to his rescue with your product which will make him contented and happy again.

Extreme Measures

To accomplish this it may become necessary to quote the Bible, threaten the victim—customer, that is—or cry real tears. It may even be necessary to do all three. If we are to believe Mr. Wilson, and if showing a not too shapely calf in public is required to sell cars—then who are we to flinch?

I'm sure Mr. Heartstill could soon convince me that I desperately need 50 horsepower more than is necessary to drive a car, two or three hundred dollars worth of ornamental chrome to ballast both ends and the middle, elongated tail fins to keep the car on the road at supersonic speeds, silver and gilt dashboard appliances to minister to my every need, and leg, back, elbow, hip, neck, wrist, and knee comfort in my automobile which I could never afford in my home.

I think perhaps I could withstand the quotations, the threats and the spindly calves. But once those tears appeared in Heartstill's eyes I'd be a pushover.

I am not made of the stuff that would let three or four thousand dollars stand between Heartstill and happiness. I might break his heart for a thousand bucks, but not for three. At the first sob I would have to pile cheque book, insurance policies and mortgage at his feet and urge him to dry those tears.

Either that, or turn the negotiations over to my hearing-ear dog.

FROM PARIS

The French Army Will Carry Out Orders—But Whose?

MANY are groping for a key to present events in France and their probable future meaning. They might well ponder the following remarkable and well-attested story of the beginning of the present agonizing crisis. It concerns the moment when the infuriated crowd in Algiers had already attacked the great building of the Government General, and the French Commander in Chief, Gen. Salan, had given the task of restoring order to his paratroop commander, the famous Gen. Massu. At this terrible moment, as his men were forming up, Gen. Massu telephoned Paris to ask his masters in the civil government the key question. Should he or should he not fire on the crowd? He pointed out that the odds against restoring order by any other means were very heavy indeed, and he added that this was essentially a political choice.

At that time, of course, there was an interregnum in Paris. Felix Gaillard, who was hastily consulted, replied that he had already ceased to be prime minister and was therefore unable to answer Gen. Massu's question.

And Pierre Pflimlin, consulted with equal haste, replied that he had not yet become prime minister and was therefore unable to answer Gen. Massu's question.

In sum the civilian politicians refused the responsibility of making the crucial decision. So Gen. Massu restored order in his own manner, by joining in the formation of the Committee of Public Safety.

Consider this episode. Then remember the experience of the French professional army in the last ten years, first in Indo-China and then in Algeria. Many dark places of the present situation are thereby illuminated.

What is revealed, above all, is the relative freedom of choice that a serious and firm French government can still enjoy and exercise if it wishes to do so. It is true that the crisis was precipitated by extremists of the Right, like Massu's civilian colleagues on the Algiers Committee of Public Safety.

It is also true that some sort of plot was already on foot when the fierce atmosphere at Algiers suddenly clotted into total crisis—the code messages of the Algiers radio are proof of that.

But there is no truth in the widespread impression that right-wing extremists have been able, single-handed, to challenge and subvert the legitimate government of France. Without the army, the Soustelle, the Delebecques and the others of the same kidney would

FROM WASHINGTON By WALTER LIPPMANN

Regulating the Labor Unions

THE principle is now settled, particularly since the testimony last week of President George Meany, that labor unions are like all other powerful interests—subject to public inspection and public regulation. It is a very good thing that this principle is not in dispute. For if it were, if organized labor were making the claim so often made by other interests, that it is private and immune, there would be serious trouble ahead. No special interest can exercise the kind of power which the unions possess and then deny that there is a public interest in the way it conducts its affairs. Mr. Meany has had the wisdom and the public spirit to recognize that if labor unions are not regulated by those who mean well by them, they will be wide open to the assault of those who wish to destroy them.

The question of regulating the unions has, of course, been brought to a head by the sensational exposures before Sen. McClellan's select committee. While these exposures dealt only with seven out of nearly 200 hundred national unions, with unions whose membership is 2,000,000 out of the national total of 17,000,000, they demonstrated clearly that the actual abuses have been very serious and that the potential abuses are enormous.

There is a public interest in the way it conducts its affairs. Mr. Meany has had the wisdom and the public spirit to recognize that if labor unions are not regulated by those who mean well by them, they will be wide open to the assault of those who wish to destroy them.

Public Remedies

It has been shown that given the existence of powerful and rich unions, the opportunities and the temptations to racketeering and corruption are so great that public remedies are necessary.

The abuses which have been exposed are, it might be said, the normal result when great power and wealth are suddenly acquired by any human institution, and there is no body of law and custom which regulates the conduct of its affairs.

The labor unions in the United States have become big in the past twenty-five years, but only after long decades of bitter and often violent struggle for recognition and legal sanction.

In the past twenty-five years they have been fostered by privileges created and protected by federal statutes. No other kind of private association exercises so much power over the livelihood of its individual members, over their opportunities, and over the routine of their daily lives.

Legally Bound

Individual employees may not, lawfully negotiate with their employers and they are legally bound by the terms and conditions of employment which a union, certified as the sole official bargaining agent for a given shop or company, may negotiate. Furthermore, in the case of many contracts the law in effect requires the compulsory payment of initiation fees and dues into the union treasury.

This legally granted power of the unions to set the terms and conditions of work also affects the rights and interests of management and of the general consuming public. Unions are also granted special immunity from the antitrust monopoly laws and, as non-profit voluntary organizations, they have exemption from the income tax.

There is, therefore, no longer any argument that the federal regulation is justified in principle and necessary in practice. The question is, what kind of regulation is most likely to work well.

Broadly speaking, there are two types of regulation.

The first, on which there is now very general agreement, is that the financial affairs of the unions shall be made public, and their officers legally made accountable for the honest administration of these affairs. This is the principle of the Douglas-Ives-Kennedy bill, dealing with welfare and pension funds only, which has already passed the Senate and it is not, in any serious sense opposed by anyone concerned.

If a similar bill applying to union funds is passed, it should mark a great reform, not only in protecting the union members from corrupt leaders but also in laying the general conduct of union business open to public scrutiny.

Other Type

The other type of regulation, now under consideration, is aimed at regulating labor unions by compelling them to adopt more democratic procedures. The theory is that if there were more democracy inside the unions, they would be better governed. That may be.

But it is a question whether in fact the federal government can make democracy compulsory in private associations, and whether, if it were to try to do so, it would not be biting off more than it can chew.

There are in the United States some 200 national unions and some 60,000 local unions, and it is not probable that the federal government can really superintend their charters and regulate their internal elections. There is not much value in attempting to do what almost certainly cannot be done. It is likely to lead only to disrespect of the law.

My own view is that the compulsory disclosure of the financial affairs of the unions is a possible though not an easy kind of law to enforce. Insofar as it is efficiently enforced, it may help to do many of the things which are supposed to be accomplished by compulsory democracy.

FREEDOM BY LIMITATION

The great advantage of being quite clear about the limitation of freedom is that it enables men to see exactly how much freedom they can have; it shows them what is possible and what is worth striving for. Locke set men on the path to the greatest possible political liberty by the method he used to set them on the path to the greatest possible scientific knowledge—by teaching them the impossibility of the absolute.

Steel Prices Jump July 1 Predicted

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steel prices "almost certainly" will rise on July 1 with the average increase expected to be around 56 a ton, Iron Age has predicted.

The authoritative trade magazine said the increase will be posted to offset wage costs that go up 20 cents an hour July 1 under union contracts.

Only "an unlooked for change in the wage-price outlook" can alter the picture, the magazine said.

Iron Age speculated on the outlook for aluminum prices. Wage agreements with aluminum producers also call for wage boosts from 15 to 20 cents an hour Aug. 1.

However, Iron Age said that competitive factors have injected an element of doubt in this picture.

Meanwhile, the trade magazine said that steel men feel more optimistic about their market outlook than in some months. "While keeping their fingers crossed, they point out that order volume has kept on an even keel during the last three to four weeks."

The magazine said there has been an inflow of new business from relatively small customers such as stampers, appliance parts makers, and automotive parts makers.

BACK INTO MARKET

In addition, Iron Age said that pipeline companies may be coming back into the market soon. These firms had cancelled orders because of a court ruling involving the mechanics of setting oil and gas rates. An appeal now is pending before the Supreme Court.

But the word is that pipeline firms will not wait for a final ruling, Iron Age said. And two or three major pipeline orders are expected to hit the mills in the near future.

Iron Age also said there is a growing feeling that the auto companies are scraping the bottom of the inventory barrel, and soon will have to return to the market.

ACROSS B.C.

Electricians Locked Out By Contractors

(Compiled from CP)

VANCOUVER — Some 900 inside wiremen, members of the Electrical Workers Union, were locked out by 12 contractors from Vancouver to Hope at 4:30 p.m. Friday.

The lockout, on a number of major construction projects, brought no immediate action from the union. A meeting will be held here Tuesday to decide whether pickets will be put up.

Members of the Electrical Contractors Association of B.C. decided on the lockout following a wage dispute with wiremen.

Electricians had demanded 60-cent-an-hour increase, but later scaled this down to 36 cents.

A conciliation board recommended that union men should have no increase over the present rate of $2.99 an hour, the highest in the province.

MURDER COMMITAL

VANCOUVER — Gino Casagrande, 28, was committed Friday for B.C. Supreme Court trial on a charge of murdering Jean Ricci Wardrop, 26, in her home last Feb. 27. She died of knife wounds.

ESCORT SLOWDOWN

VANCOUVER — Police escorts for visiting dignitaries have been told: no speeding and no sirens.

The ruling was made Thursday after two aldermen complained that police motorcycles escorting Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands on his visit here did so with sirens screaming.

In future requests from official parties for higher speeds "shall be politely but firmly declined,"

GLIDER CRASH

VANCOUVER — Wolf gang Schoeffert, who flew 1,100 hours with the German Luftwaffe during the Second World War, was recovering Friday in hospital here from compound fractures of both legs suffered last week-end in a glider crash.

He had to be sawed from the cockpit of his glider after it spiralled and crashed nose first while landing at the Abbotsford airport. There was no comment from airport authorities on reports that cameras were confiscated from people at the scene of the crash.

Bank Clearings Show 20% Drop

Victoria bank clearings for May were down 20 per cent from the figure for the corresponding period last year, Victoria Clearing House announced Saturday.

Clearings up to Friday afternoon totalled $41,759,861, whereas in May of 1957 they amounted to $51,070,355.

TRADE OFFENSIVE—A more serious challenge to the West than Sputniks may be Russia's stepped-up, world-wide, trade-without-offensive. Besides the satellite nations already within the Red economic orbit, the Soviets are nibbling at the trade of Western Europe—a new commercial pact has just been signed with West Germany. An active part of the cold war economic battlefield are certain "neutral" and "uncommitted" nations such as the United Arab Republic, India and Indonesia. But also becoming prime targets for Russian loans and trade pacts are new areas in Africa and Latin America.

ONTARIO TO EXPAND GAS PROBE?

Northern-Twin City 'Squeeze' Claimed

TORONTO (CP) — The Star says it has learned reliably that the Ontario government is investigating into the affairs of Northern Ontario Natural Gas Company, probably will be extended into the operations of Twin City Gas Company, a subsidiary.

Twin City serves Port Arthur, Fort William and other communities between Kenora and Hearst in Northern Ontario. The Star says Twin City competed spiritedly with Northern Gas for franchises at the Lakehead, "but after they were issued, Northern turned up with 50 per cent of Twin City's stock."

F. E. Shaw, Sarnia industrialist who organized Twin City, remains as president but the story says Northern's nominees control the company. It says Ralph K. Farris, executive vice-president of Twin City, is president of Northern. Twin City's company records are kept in Northern's Toronto office, not in Twin City's Fort William head office.

CONTROL ACT MYSTERY

The Star says how Northern obtained control of Twin City has been a mystery. But it says in a conversation Friday with Mr. Shaw he said Northern gained control in a "squeeze" at the time of the pipeline debate in the House of Commons in 1956.

The story adds that Mr. Shaw explained after the Trans-Canada pipeline bill was passed in the Commons, Trans-Canada had only a week to obtain commitments for sale of 300,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day. Northern and Twin City represented the last and vital 100,000,000.

The Star says although Mr. Shaw would not be specific about how he was "squeezed" out of 50 per cent of his company, he hinted that obtaining a "certificate" for gas sale in a week, compared to the nine months it had taken Northern, was one of the key pieces in the puzzle.

Port William granted Twin City a franchise June 13, 1956. Port Arthur had passed its franchise by-law June 1. On June 23 Mr. Shaw announced he had been granted a certificate by the Ontario Fuel Board, allowing him to supply gas to the Lakehead.

SIGNED CONTRACT

On June 27, Northern Gas was reported to have signed a contract to take more than 100,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily from the Trans-Canada pipeline.

The Star says its investigation of the stock of Twin City shows many members of the councils of Port Arthur and Port William obtained stock in the company formed to distribute gas at the Lakehead.

It says Mayor Hubert Badanai of Port William, now Liberal MP for Port William, and his wife each bought 500 shares in the public offering at $3 a share last December. Mayor Eunice Wishart of Port Arthur and her husband, J. A. Wishart, each bought 500 shares but sold the stock three weeks later.

The paper says Mr. Wishart later bought another 1,000 shares, which Mrs. Wishart said she did not know about in March.

It says a check of stock records shows that in addition to the mayors, five members of the 1956 Port William city council and two members of the 1956 Port Arthur city council obtained stock.

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Eisenhower's embattled trade program now appears to have a fighting chance of getting through Congress without being denounced in the process.

A few weeks ago, the outlook for congressional approval this year was dim. Since then, Eisenhower has agreed to concessions designed to make the bill more acceptable to the protectionist elements in Congress.

This is the bill through which the President is asking Congress to extend the U.S. Reciprocity Trade Agreements Act for five years and give him authority to reduce U.S. tariffs by 25 per cent in return for similar concessions by other exporting countries.

For Canada and other nations which depend heavily on the American market for their export sales this will be about the most important piece of legislative business to be handled by Congress this year.

STILL SOME HURDLES

The legislation still faces some hurdles. It comes up for floor debate in the House of Representatives within the next few days and then must clear the Senate. But Eisenhower is expected to get approval of the five-year extension and the tariff-cutting authority.

The Trade Act will die automatically June 30 if Congress does not renew it. If that happens, the trade agreements that the U.S. now has with 43 other powers will be frozen and Eisenhower will have no authority to reduce tariffs on foreign imports.

To avoid this, Eisenhower has agreed to two major concessions, neither of which will be particularly to the liking of Canada and the other exporting powers. Both represent a tightening up of U.S. trade laws.

One gives Congress the power, by a two-thirds majority vote, to override the president if he ignores recommendations for higher tariffs made to him by the U.S. tariff commission. At present, he has authority to refuse such recommendations.

Khrushchev 'Bamboozled' Canadians?

TORONTO (CP) — A Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario legislature said Friday night Premier Khrushchev "bamboozled" a group of 31 "naive business ambassadors" from Canada who recently toured the Soviet Union.

Allan Grossman, member for Toronto St. Andrew, told the Negro War Veterans' Association: "Are our businessmen prepared to sell us down the Volga?"

He said Canada must trade with Russia and join in cultural exchanges "but we must also not let down our guard. Some of us, it seems, are sorely tempted to."

Mr. Grossman added: "They said they were impressed with Mr. Khrushchev and described the Russian leader as a man of charm, humor and power."

"This pudgy little charmer, who apparently bamboozled the visitors, is the same man who helped establish Stalin through the slaughter and deportation of thousands."

TODAY'S GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Liberal offerings appeared in most grains today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. The active selling was prompted by reports of beneficial showers during the weekend in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Export interest was light and trade reports indicated a small quantity of flax had been sold to Holland.

Flax had liberal offerings from various sources and support was weak. Some buying appeared on recessions from various sources and brought some rallies from the low points.

Rye also had liberal offerings and wide price declines. Buying on recessions by shipper produced a few rallies in late trading.

Oats and barley had routine domestic trade and prices were lower.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat: West Germany 90,000 bushels, Russia 390,000, the United Kingdom 350,000, Japan 140,000, The Netherlands 20,000, Norway 30,000, Belgium, a small quantity.

Lakehead prices for class two IWA and domestic wheat were all down one-quarter cent.

Grain	Open	High	Low	Close
Wheat	20 1/2	20 3/4	20 1/4	20 1/2
Barley	10 1/2	10 3/4	10 1/4	10 1/2

SOS for Berry Pickers Out As Crop Early

With the strawberry crop reaching its seasonal peak, an urgent appeal for pickers was made today by J. H. Fox, manager of the National Employment office here.

"Saanich growers are faced with a serious shortage of pickers," he said. "The response for help is disappointing so far."

Mr. Fox said he appealed to Greater Victoria schools for 300 children, but only 50 students have registered with NES to date.

John Gough, municipal inspector of schools, said children can be released from schools for picking, subject to the approval of principals and parents.

MARKET SUMMARIES

MONDAY, JUNE 2, 1958

Wall Street Moving To New Year's High

The market was going up today as Wall Street moved toward another 1958 high, and Toronto industrials set another peak with a three-point gain.

Steels were pacemakers in New York, as wide issues showed advances. Volume for today was up considerably, estimated at 2,800,000 shares, compared with 2,350,000 on Thursday, last active market day.

AT TORONTO western oils were ahead a point, base metals three-quarter point and golds 19 point. Papers, utilities, steels, liquors and refining oils were ahead among industrials. Financial institutions was the only group lower as banks eased. Across the section gains outnumbered losses almost 4-to-1. Among winners were Brown Paper, Consumers Gas, Steel Company of Canada, Imperial Oil, Trans Mountain Pipe and St. Lawrence Corporation.

Base metals moved ahead behind Consolidated Smelters, East Sullivan, Hudson Bay and International Nickel. Falconbridge and Labrador were easier.

AT VANCOUVER prices were slightly higher on a dull market during the forenoon. Lemac sold 3,000 at 6¢. Royal Canadian Ventures traded 7,000 at 48¢. Sparmax moved 14,500 at 20¢. Quatsino sold 2,000 at 20¢.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court Monday: Alex Chow, Wishart Road, $25 for driving without a licence. William Godfrey Dumont, 2514 Shelbourne, $35 and licence suspension, and Herbert A. Olsen, 3331 Doncaster, $35, for careless driving.

CALL FOR TENDERS

British Columbia Power Commission

Loading-Out and Hauling Contract

The B.C. Power Commission will receive sealed tenders until 12 noon, P.M.T., June 19, 1958, for the loading-out and hauling from Upper Campbell Lake of logs from Butte Lake, Vancouver Island, B.C.

Copies of Specification No. C-301 may be obtained from the Commission's Purchasing Agent, Box 508, Victoria, B.C. Copy may also be seen at the Building and Construction Industries Exchange, 347 West Pender Street, Vancouver, and at the office of the Victoria Building Industries Exchange, 414 West Street, Victoria.

Tenders will be opened in public at the Commission's office, Victoria, at 2:00 p.m., P.M.T., June 19, 1958. The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

AT NEW YORK U.S. Steel

remained ahead by well over a point. Similar gains were made by Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Republic Steel.

Good year and Douglas Aircraft were up about two points apiece. Kennecott, Zenith and Royal Dutch advanced about a point each.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up 90 cents to $171.41 noon.

Among Canadian issues, International Nickel rose 1½¢. McIntyre Porcupine ¾¢. Hudson Bay Mining and Canadian Pat. and Distillers-Seagrams ½¢ each.

In the Canadian list on the American exchange, Shawinigan was ahead ¼¢ and Fargo Oil 3/16¢. Brazilian Traction and Preston East Dome each fell ¼¢.

AT MONTREAL prices were stronger in moderate early afternoon trading on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges with a number of substantial gains being registered.

Utilities and base metals gained ground, although Gatinseau slipped ¼¢ to 34½¢. Union Gas jumped 2½¢ to 85¢. International Nickel gained 1½¢ to 74¢ and Aluminum advanced ¼¢ to 26½¢.

Two big gains were in a mixed papers group. Brown went up 1½¢ to 12½¢ and International Paper was at 95¢, a gain of two. On the downside was Abitibi at 27½¢, a dip of ¼¢.

Another big industrial gainer was Selpac, up 2½¢ to 59¢. Penny issues also improved generally. Rexpar gained 30 cents to 66¢ and Maritimes picked up 7 cents to 70¢. Bucking the trend was Comingo, down two-cents to 45¢. Central Del Rio gained 10 cents to 85¢.

Industrial volume was $1,600 shares, mines and oils 243,700.

'Quit NATO' Call From CCF Parley

'Gone Down the Drain'—Cameron; World Ban on Nuclear Tests Urged

Canada's withdrawal from NATO, and a world ban on nuclear tests, was recommended Sunday by the B.C. section of the CCF in convention at Vancouver.

The resolution also said Canada should offer its total defence appropriation to United Nations for maintenance of a UN police force and strengthening of UN agencies.

The decision to seek collective security through the UN followed remarks by former Nanaimo MP Colin Cameron, who said:

"It is an open secret at Ottawa that NATO has gone down the drain."

Proof of its military insignificance, he said, was the fact the United States has refused to place its first defence line, the U.S. Strategic Air Force Command, under NATO orders.

The resolution was amended numerous times before the approval. It will be forwarded to the national convention in July.

Chopped from the original resolution put forward by the executive, was a proposal for vast reductions in Canadian defence spending.

North Vancouver delegate R. Bulloch objected, saying:

"Up to 47 per cent of the national budget is for defence spending. The resolution would ask us to throw that out in the face of the unemployed."

Investigation of Indian Affairs

The convention voted to set up a CCF commission to investigate Indian affairs, so we can effectively work with, and assist the native people in their fight against injustice and for equality.

It called for increased study and increased spending by the government toward the same end.

Equus High School teacher Pat Thomas told the convention there is a tremendous ignorance of Indian conditions among students.

"When I mention we have a band of Indians on a reserve near Victoria, there is a certain amount of chuckling and expressions of contempt. I think it reflects the home attitude."

He felt the CCF should bring home to people that condition of B.C. Indians is one of the most tragic aspects of life in B.C. at the present time.

The convention called for a CCF government to establish a continuing committee on education methods and curriculum. It would include representatives of the department, UBC, B.C. Teachers' Federation and the Provincial Parent/Teacher Association.

A second resolution said a CCF government would seek federal government financial aid through re-negotiation of the tax-rental agreement, so that all students, regardless of circumstance, would obtain full technical and university education.

Under the plan there would be progressive removal of the tax on land for education, larger government sharing of school costs and preservation of local autonomy.

A B.C. Telephone Co. request for rate increase was opposed and provincial control and eventual public ownership was supported.

Hydro-electric development of the Columbia River by a joint federal-provincial authority, a more generous interpretation of the Workmen's Compensation Act, collective bargaining for government employees and a scheme for automobile accident insurance by a CCF government in B.C. all received strong support.

MONTREAL (CP) — Eleven men were each fined court costs of $5 Friday for shooting dice on the city streets—an offence under the traffic code. They pleaded guilty to playing a game on De La Fripone Street May 23 in the city's east end.

Posse Beards Hairless Men With Fines

LANGFORD—A posse headed by "Sheriff" Bill Okell is ready to pounce on beardless men and unsunbonnetted women in Colwood, Langford, Glen Lake and Happy Valley.

Beard and bonnet regulations came into effect Saturday night but Sheriff Okell and his men said they gave the public "a break" Sunday. For the next three weeks there will be no excuses and the posse vows to be merciless.

"A one-day beard is hard to prove, but a two-day growth will save a man from arrest," the sheriff said.

Offenders will be fined 25c for failing to observe local regulations and trials will be held on the spot. The "fines" will be turned over to the Centennial Park project.

U.K. CEREMONY FOR PIONEER

BOURNEMOUTH, England (Reuters) — In the churchyard of St. Peter's Church here, Canadians Sunday honored the memory of the man who founded New Westminster, B.C.

He was Maj. Gen. Richard Clement Moody, who died at Bournemouth, in 1887, aged 74.

A plaque to his memory was unveiled by 11-year-old Lilian Bull, May Queen of New Westminster, who was flown over for the ceremony. It was dedicated by the Bishop of New Westminster, Rt. Rev. Godfrey P. Cower.

Orthodox Douks Protest Violence

NELSON (CP) — The first members of a delegation which will meet Tuesday with Premier Bennett and his cabinet to demand immediate action against terrorists in the West Kootenays left here Sunday.

The delegates represent city council, the Chamber of Commerce, and business and industry in this region.

Meanwhile representatives of 8,000 members of orthodox Doukhobors added their protests about continuing terrorism in the West Kootenays.

In a telegram to Premier

Bennett Sunday the orthodox Doukhobors said:

"At an extraordinary convention of 125 representatives of some 8,000 members of the Union of Spiritual Community of Christ held at Grand Forks, we add our own voice to the protests being heard over the latest acts of terrorism in West Kootenays.

"Whoever is responsible must be apprehended and brought to answer for this crime so that terrorists will terrorize no more. During the last 10 years we have had the misfortune to suffer most of all from the terrorists. We pledge our whole-hearted support to any sound endeavor to solve this problem without delay."

It was signed by chairman John J. Rilko, secretary Ignace P. Makaef and John J. Verigin.

1,000 MADE HOMELESS BY SHATTERING BLAST

MOUNT PULASKI, Ill. (AP) — The shattering explosion of a railroad tank car spread devastation through this town of 1,500 persons Sunday, leaving some 1,000 temporarily homeless.

Two railroad men were killed and one was injured seriously in the violent blast. More than a score of persons were hurt by flying glass and debris. Cause of the blast was not immediately determined.

Damage was estimated by town officials as $1,000,000. Officials said a survey indicated that two-thirds of the town's some 400 homes were damaged and not immediately habitable.

ICE CREAM FIRST REQUEST

Lost Girl Lived On Grass for Week

RAINY RIVER, Ont. (CP) — The girl said she waved to an 11-year-old girl who lived on grass and weeds while lost in dense brush for a week sat up in hospital here Sunday and tucked into good-sized meals.

Carol Johnson was found asleep Saturday beside a fallen tree five miles from her farm home at Bergland, 18 miles north of this northwestern Ontario town on the international border.

Dr. G. E. S. Fraser, who is attending the girl, said that apart from a mild fever, bramble scratches, sunburn and wood-tick bites to her feet and legs, she is in good condition and will be allowed home in a day or two.

ASKS FOR ICE CREAM
He said the grass diet had not upset her appetite — her first request in hospital was for ice cream.

The girl told her mother, Mrs. Walter Johnson, that she had said her prayers every night just as she had been taught. "I was just going out to find daddy's cattle," Carol said when asked why she wandered off.

The wet and shivering girl was found when more than 500 searchers started out on what was to be the last day of the hunt.

"Oh, I'm so glad you found me," she said when a party of searchers came upon her. She told them: "I wasn't a bit afraid."

WAVED AT PLANES
During the week searchers flushed several large bears in the area but Carol said she had not seen any.

UNANIMOUS BACKING FOR STRACHAN

CCF leader Robert Strachan received hearty endorsement by delegates to the annual party convention in Vancouver.

Randolph Harding, MLA for Kaslo-Slocan, as caucus chairman, announced that MLAs had unanimously re-elected Mr. Strachan.

Mr. Harding warned delegates to ready themselves for a possible election this fall.

"A great deal depends on the outcome of a certain trial going on in Vancouver right now," he stated. "Get in shape and be ready to go."

MacInnis Elected President of CCF

Two Victorians were named Sunday to the provincial executive of the CCF party in B.C.

Oak Bay delegate Pat Thomas was elected to the provincial executive and Mrs. May Campbell of the Victoria club, was named as an alternate on the provincial executive.

The convention, in its final session, named Mrs. Grace MacInnis as provincial president, replacing Alex B. Macdonald.

Mrs. MacInnis, a Vancouver pioneer in CCF organization in B.C., is a daughter of the late J. S. Woodworth, founder of the party.

Former Nanaimo MP, Colin Cameron was named first vice-president; Robert Prittie is new second vice-president. Other executive members are Frank McKenzie, Vancouver; Hugh Clifford, North Vancouver; Dave Stupich, Nanaimo; Knute Buttedahl, Vancouver; Owen Jones, Kelowna, and Mrs. Frank Rush, Vancouver.

Mrs. Laura Jamieson, Vancouver, was named chairman of the CCF Provincial Women's Council. Harold Winch, MP, and H. W. Herridge, MP, were

'LET'S TACKLE' UNEMPLOYMENT'

A request to all levels of government to "declare an emergency in the field of unemployment, and immediately call federal and provincial conferences, was made Sunday by the provincial convention of the CCF.

Management and labor representatives should be invited to the talks, "... to actively and realistically tackle this problem," the unanimous resolution stated.

John Squire, MLA for Alberni, said a recent British Columbia Federation of Labor survey showed 40 per cent of British Columbia employers forecast staff reductions this year. "People are lined up at the mill gates every morning. Ottawa is doing nothing," he said.

COMPROMISE RESOLUTION PASSED

Two CCF Manifestoes To Guide Party in B.C.

By PETE LOUDON
Times Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER—A statement of principles aimed at satisfying both right and left wings of the CCF party was endorsed Saturday at the annual provincial convention in Vancouver.

The rigid socialistic principles of the 1933 Regina Manifesto, and the modified principles set out by a national convention at Winnipeg in 1956 gained equal support.

The convention decided the party should be guided by both, with an emphasis on the Regina "eradication of capitalism" as an ultimate goal.

Many party members objected earlier to the Winnipeg Declaration, which makes room for capitalist free enterprise in a socialist economy. The Regina manifesto dedicates the party to overcome capitalism.

The compromise resolution said:

"The CCF has twice sought to express its principles in a broad and general way, first in the trough of depression at Regina in 1933, and second on the crest of boom, at Winnipeg in 1956.

DIFFERENT

"We cannot foresee the circumstances in which the next statement will be made, but we do know they will be different.

"This convention believes that the way to prepare for the next

SKIN ITCH

To quickly clear your skin of embarrassing external blemishes, Eczema, Rash, Pimples, Itching, Cracking, Peeling, Sun or Wind Burn and other skin ailments, use NIXODERM from drug stores, health food stores, and mail order. It works while you sleep. Quicker skin clearing and irritation. Get NIXODERM today... look better tomorrow.

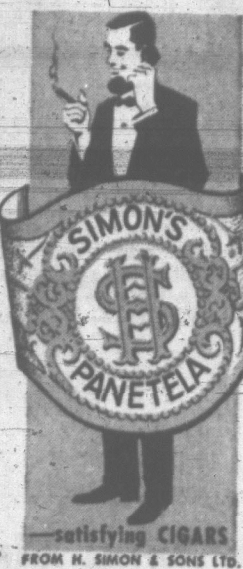

such statement is by disavowing and rejecting any concept or declaration that a modified and controlled capitalism is the ultimate goal of the CCF.

(It is resolved) "... that we reaffirm and be guided by the principles set forth in the preamble to the Regina Manifesto, and the Winnipeg Declaration, that we once again proclaim the concluding paragraph of the Regina Manifesto:

Alex Macdonald, 1957 provincial president, said, "repeating the old phrases... isn't going to help." He said socialists who never vary from the "old ideas and old words" are the real "deep-dyed" conservatives.

Dave Stupich, Nanaimo, spoke against "modified, controlled capitalism."

Canada Ballet Cheered As Mexico Tour Opens

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The National Ballet Company of Canada was given an enthusiastic reception Saturday night at a gala debut by a near-capacity audience at the Palace of Fine Arts.

Lois Smith scored a personal triumph in the role of Odette, queen of the swans, in Tchaikovsky's Swan Lake.

David Adams, as Prince Siegfried, also won rounds of applause.

It was the first time in Mexico that Tchaikovsky's classic had been presented in full four-act form.

TRUMPHANT FINALE

Maria Callas Exits From Famed La Scala

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Soprano Maria Callas sang a triumphant last performance at La Scala Saturday night but the ovation of a packed house did not alter her decision to quit the famed Milan opera.

She announced a week ago she would step down as La Scala's first lady, because of a feud with the opera-house superintendent.

She sang Bellini's Il Pirata. The audience called her back again and again. They cried "La Scala is yours. Come back." Twenty policemen lined up to restrain fans from throwing bouquets on the stage.

Her eyes filled with tears, Miss Callas said afterwards she will not change her mind.

"It's heartbreaking," the 34-year-old New York-born singer said, "but I won't be able to return next season. I need a long vacation."

Her feud with La Scala superintendent Antonio Ghiringhelli followed last year's music festival at Edinburgh. Officials there said she walked out after the third of four scheduled performances to attend a party given for her in Venice.

Ghiringhelli ordered her to apologize. She refused.

Last fall Miss Callas walked out after the first act of the Rome opening night opera, leaving Italy's president and a glittering audience fretting. She claimed she was unable to continue singing. Rome music lovers virtually booed her out of the city.

VICTORIAN 'BEST SUPPORTING'

Newcomer From England Wins Festival Best Actress Award

VANCOUVER (CP)—Cynthia Arlie Straw accepted the trophy of the Victoria Festival Best Actress Award.

Chadwick, 21, who had no acting experience until she came to Canada from England two years ago, has been named best actress in the B.C. Drama Association's one-act play festival.

Joy Songdon won the best supporting actress award for her performance as Hon. Clare Wedderburn in the Victoria Theatre Guild's entry, Hands Across the Sea by Noel Coward.

Miss Chadwick played Dodo in the Vernon Little Theatre's entry of an excerpt from the Christopher Fry comedy A Phoenix Too Frequent.

The Vernon group's performance Saturday won it the trophy as the best production at the festival. Director Mrs.

Charles Smith won the best supporting actor award for his role of Teddy Bompas in the same production.

The best actor award went to Tom Whyte for his role of Henry Apjohn in the West Vancouver Little Theatre Guild's performance of How He Lied to Her Husband by George Bernard Shaw.

FISHERMEN FOUND SAFE

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP) — Two Campbell River men reported missing Saturday on a fishing trip were found Sunday afternoon by a Ground Observer Corps search and rescue team.

F. E. McCarthy, 69, and Norman Smith, 75, spent the night in their car after it broke down on rough logging roads. They suffered no ill effects.

The pair had passed through an Elk River Timber Co. logging road gate on their way to Middle Quinsam Lake Saturday afternoon but on their return the gate was locked, they said. The car broke down while they were searching for another exit.

'CRAMPING CITY'

CPR Urged To Get Out Of Duncan

DUNCAN (CP) — Canadian Pacific Railway, whose subsidiary Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway uses extensive property in Duncan, was told by a city alderman it can best help the traffic problem here by picking up its truckage and freight business and moving out of town.

Mr. James Saunders made the suggestion at a meeting between city council and railway officials. He was supported by consulting engineer Russell E. Potter of Victoria who said that for Duncan's future development, "the obvious thing will be to move the CPR out of town."

Mr. Potter said the railway is "cramping the city's growth and is itself being cramped." "In 10 years neither of us will be able to expand properly to keep up with the growth," he added.

For the CPR, superintendent V. H. Hartley said the railway is not using all its available property and suggested the city widen one street to eliminate a bottleneck where freight trucks and trailers now load.

He said CPR truckage is adequate where it is located to handle traffic at present and for some time to come.

PARKSVILLE (CP) — In addition to other sprinkling regulations, residents here have been told to turn off their hoses immediately they hear the siren of a fire engine. With sprinklers going there would not be enough pressure for fire hoses.

ISLAND VIEWPOINT

Clean Shaven

COMOX DISTRICT FREE PRESS — How many people, we wonder, will be thankful to be rid of their beards and be glad to have such a store of excuses to choose from?

One or two of the more famous growths came off very quickly with the excuse of what might be called "table leg" shaving, that is to say a little too much was trimmed off one side; then, when the other side was trimmed to balance, too much was taken off on that side also with the result that eventually the whole beard came off.

We wonder how much the hot weather had to do with this wholesale discarding of beards and we wonder too just how many have been waiting for an excuse to have a sigh of relief and thankfully reach for the razor.

Nevertheless the beards were interesting while they lasted but whether we have lost much Centennial value through the shaving of the beards is a matter for conjecture.

Personally we don't think so.

Focal Point

SIDNEY REVIEW — Sparkle went out of the commercial life of Vancouver Island when seamen serving with Canadian Pacific coastal ships went on strike, idling the Princess fleet. At time of writing many millions of dollars worth of these vessels are still lying at their moorings. Meanwhile Vancouver Island's economy is slowly strangling. And determination is growing that this tragic situation must never be repeated.

While the tourist stream which normally stimulates the economy of the lower part of Vancouver Island slows to a mere trickle, more and more eyes are on the growing community of Sidney. The strike has driven home forcibly the

IMPORT DUTY HELPED

Higher Sales Cheer Vegetable Co-Ops

NANAIMO (CP) — Meetings of the B.C. Coast Vegetable Marketing Board and the Island Vegetable Co-operative Association Saturday heard reports of increased tonnages handled, prospects of greater production this year and a "very nice" financial position.

The meetings, chaired by Alex Hope of Fort Langley and Donald Wilson of Cedar, handled reports, forecasts and election of officers.

In a morning session of the coast board, Mr. Hope dwelt on his chairman's report mainly on potato production, noting a steady increase in B.C. sales compared with United States imports from 1951 to 1958.

He said a major reason for the increase was imposition of a $7.50-a-ton import duty for the protection of Canadian producers, mainly as a result of plea sounded in this column for many years that a fast ferry service to link the Peninsula with the B.C. mainland is a crying necessity. The fast ferry link should simply be considered an integral part of the Trans-Canada Highway system. Ships of ample size and speed should be built and operated by the federal government on frequent service. Then once and for all the transportation problem which has vexed the lower part of Vancouver Island for so long would be conquered forever.

Urgent Appeal

COWICHAN LEADER — There is an element of urgency about the appeal for $25,000 to set up Cowichan Exhibition on its new grounds on James Street.

The campaign, to run from June 1 to 19, in the name of Cowichan Agricultural Society, has excellent government support. The federal department of agriculture is offering dollar for dollar, up to $100,000, to establish a permanent exhibition here. The provincial government's department of agriculture, has promised $5,000 a year for three years.

The $25,000 needed now represents the money required as the community's part of the first agreement, under which some $60,000 worth of stock barns and office buildings will be erected. If the drive succeeds, a new agricultural hall to be available as a community hall with the objective of the next phase of the dollar-for-dollar agreement with Ottawa, probably next year.

If $25,000 can be realized for the trust fund for the exhibition on its new grounds by June 19, the district can be assured that there is real support for the annual show. If not, the campaign to maintain a Class B show will go under, and those interested in promoting the annual fair will be compelled to revise their opinions.

Youth in Coma After Crash; Driver Arrested

COURTENAY — A Union Bay youth is in critical condition in St. Joseph's Hospital, Comox, and a Courtenay man faces an impaired driving charge after their car side-swiped a telephone pole two miles south of here.

William Tratnik, 18, was still unconscious today, more than 24 hours after the early Sunday morning accident.

He suffered a skull fracture and other injuries when the right side of the car where he was sitting was peeled back from front to rear by the pole.

DRIVER IN JAIL — Driver Charles Powers, about 39, suffered only minor arm injuries. Held in jail following the accident, he was scheduled to appear in police court today.

Another passenger, Carl Vennberg, 18, of Union Bay, was released from hospital after treatment of facial cuts. Police said the three men were returning from a dance at Union Bay when the car left the road on a curve.

DIAMOND HEAD HEADS OFF PURSUERS

First across the finish line in Swiftsure racing classic Sunday was Max Wyman's Diamond Head, Seattle

Yacht Club. She won City of Victoria trophy for fastest boat and "AA" award.—(Photo, W. Boucher.)

ORIOLE TO FINISH IF IT TAKES ALL WEEK

Three Yachts Still Plodding Toward Home

The Swiftsure race classic is still on today, as far as the largest and smallest entries are concerned.

Still out in Juan de Fuca Strait, drifting homeward at press time, were the 90-foot HMCS Oriole, the 23-foot Mischief and the 33-foot Blue Wave.

Oriole's only purpose is to finish the race, if it takes her all week. The big training yacht needs at least a fresh breeze to move her along, and she's had nothing but flat calm.

On the other hand, Mischief of Portland Yacht Club and Blue Wave, West Vancouver Yacht Club, mean business.

They're the last of five yachts entered in "B" class, and whichever one wins will pick up the B class trophy, no matter how long their elapsed time.

The race became official when the first yacht finished Sunday within 55-hour 33-minute time limit.

Shortly before noon, Mischief was reported in company with Oriole off Sheringham Point, about 15 miles from Race Rocks.

Blue Wave's position was not known. Mischief won B class in 1956 with a total elapsed time of 55 hours 30 minutes.

Only 17 of 39 Finish Classic

Swiftsure Ocean Racing Classic winners, 1958:
First boat home and "AA" Class winner: Diamond Head, Max Wyman, Seattle Yacht Club.
Swiftsure Trophy winner on corrected time and "BB" Class winner: Ono, Herbert Day, Seattle Yacht Club.
"A" Class winner: Kate H. David, Skinner, Seattle Yacht Club.

By MONTE ROBERTS

The slowest Swiftsure classic on record was also the toughest and most intriguing for died-in-the-brine yachtsmen.

And for all but 17 of the record entry of 39 boats, it was the most frustrating.

Very light winds, perverse tides, periods of glassy calm in doldrum-like air, combined to put a premium on patience, perseverance, skill—and racing luck.

Only 17 boats had crossed the finish line at Ogden Point by midnight Sunday. Most of the rest had given up and powered back to port. First to break off and call it a race was a yacht with excellent sailing qualities, a previous Swiftsure winner, Carl Jensen's Adios.

Skipper Jensen ran into a continuous series of calms and adverse currents, headed for home before 3 p.m. Saturday. He was followed by another dozen yachts before the day was out.

Diamond Head, winner of the City of Victoria Trophy for first boat home, took 30 hours, 19 minutes, 50 seconds to complete the 196.2 nautical mile course. Her skipper-owner, Max Wyman, estimates they sailed more than double that distance in search of a breeze.

Only for a brief period Saturday, when the yachts cleared Juan de Fuca Strait and caught a brisk southeasterly beyond Cape Flattery did any of the yachts show racing speed.

It was here that John Graham in Maruffa, last year's triple crown winner, made his bid. He cracked on all sail after leading the field around the lightship, headed for the U.S. coast—and disaster.

Maruffa, Sea Fever (another early leader) and several other yachts ran into a dead clam and conducted their "Driftsure" from Neah Bay to Clallan Bay before most of them abandoned the race.

TOOK LEAD 10 TIMES

To indicate the type of race it was, Diamond Head took the lead 10 times, lost it nine times, before crossing the line first.

Ono, the over-all winner with a corrected time of 42 hours, 16 minutes, 49 seconds, also had anything but an easy time of it. She and Panacea, another K33 racer with an identical time handicap, covered each other all the way until Ono slipped inside Race Passage and picked up a vagrant breeze off William Head while Panacea was becalmed.

Ono also won the trophy in 1952.

Crews of the winning yachts unanimously agreed it was a tiring but fascinating two days. There was no time for sleep, and little for food or drink, as each crew chased what little winds there were all over the Strait.

Early Sunday morning, yachts remaining in the race were scattered over a 20-square-mile area, giving the shepherd RCN ships a tough time keeping track of them all.

Race committee officials who today said officially this was the slowest Swiftsure since the race started in 1930—credited the winning crews with a combination of a great deal of hard work and a little touch of luck.

Class results with corrected times:
AA-1, Diamond Head, Seattle YC, 45 hours, 49 minutes; 2, Albatross, Canadian YC, 45 hours, 30 minutes; 3, Sea Fever, 45 hours, 47 minutes; 4, Westward Ho, Canadian YC, 50 hours, 22 minutes.
A-1, Kate H. David, Seattle YC, 43 hours, 37 minutes; 2, Panacea, Seattle YC, 43 hours, 37 minutes; 3, Nautilus, Seattle YC, 43 hours, 45 minutes; 4, Buccaneer, Seattle YC, 44 hours, 4 minutes; 5, Serada, Seattle YC, 44 hours, 47 minutes; 6, Gometra, Royal Vancouver YC, 50 hours, 22 minutes.
BB-1, Ono, Seattle YC, 42 hours, 16 minutes; 2, Panacea, Seattle YC, 42 hours, 16 minutes; 3, Karen, Seattle YC, 43 hours, 37 minutes; 4, Crested, Royal Vancouver YC, 47 hours, 25 minutes; 5, Totem, Canadian YC, 48 hours, 12 minutes.

SOLARIUM CANVASSERS START ONE-HOUR BLITZ AT 6 TONIGHT

Volunteer canvassers will cover Greater Victoria tonight between 6 and 7 p.m. for the annual one-hour drive in aid of Queen Alexandra Solarium.

Some canvassers are still needed in scattered areas, and officials of the Junior League, sponsoring the drive will take applications up to the last moment. Volunteers are asked to telephone 4-9301 or 5-9775.

The "Shower of Dimes" last year raised about $20,000 for care and treatment of crippled children at the Solarium. No objective has been set this year.

Car, Gravel Truck In Separate Flips

Six Injured in Weekend Traffic; Heavy Vehicle Damage Recorded

Six people went to hospital and damage totalled in the thousands as a result of seven traffic crashes at the weekend and today.

Most spectacular were ones in which 15 and 16-year-old Victoria boys got bounced around early Sunday when their car hit a pole and a tree, then turned over and when truck driver John Gehardt, 907 Darwin, lost control of his truck at Patricia Bay Highway today, spilling gravel into a ditch, when it rolled.

The juveniles were taken with shock and head cuts to St. Joseph's Hospital and later discharged after their accident at Rockland and Green Oaks.

Police said the car, travelling on Rockland, sideswiped a power pole continued toward Oak Bay Avenue and struck a tree, turning over opposite 1750 Rockland. Damage was heavy.

Second driver was identified as Josef Hammerich Stebeck, 1430 Pembroke. There were no injuries.

SHOULDER INJURY
Hendrick Jan Shuring, 53, of 512 Vincent, was treated at St. Joseph's for a shoulder injury and discharged after his car was in collision with another car at Government and Broughton at 12:40 p.m. Sunday.

Five-year-old Norman Anderson, 224 Wilson, was treated at St. Joseph's for a leg abrasion after he was in collision with a car near Catherine on Wilson at 6:45 p.m. Saturday.

Driver was identified as Mary Ada Hiscock, 1331 Arm. Police said the boy ran from behind a parked car.

Immigrant Nearly Drowns In Elk Lake

A 19-year-old Hungarian immigrant owes his life to unidentified rescuers who pulled him half-drowned from Elk Lake at 2:43 p.m. Sunday.

Taken semi-conscious to St. Joseph's Hospital, Seno Imre Karakai, 448 Moss, was brought around, admitted for observation and pronounced in good condition today.

Elk Lake hall of Saanich fire department was credited along with those who pulled Karakai from the water, with "a good save."

Resuscitator equipment was brought within minutes and used on the beach.

Firemen were told Karakai, who has lived in Canada 18 months, tried to swim from the shore to a diving raft about 60 feet from the lakeshore.

BANKERS CHASE SCOUTS FOR 'HANDOUTS'

Silver Money Famine Looms As Strike Hits Deliveries

City shopkeepers who now have a shortage of customers because of the steamship strike may soon go short of a commodity as vital.

Small change.
A city bank official said today a strike against Black Ball Ferries could result in a shortage of silver money on Vancouver Island.

The situation is looming so crucial, it is understood, Boy Scouts who collected dimes and quarters during their recent Apple Week were asked to turn over the silver to city banks in exchange for bills.

The official said dimes, quarters and 50-cent pieces normally brought to the Island by CPR ferry were shipped by truck early in the strike, but this was found to be too expensive and Black Ball to Nanaimo will be used for future shipments.

TOO COSTLY
"The truckers wanted the money carried in small amounts—$4,000 worth instead of the more usual much-larger amounts—because of the weight and the need for guards.

But this brought a big increase in shipping costs, so we shall have to ship the silver by Black Ball to Nanaimo next month, then pick it up and bring it to Victoria."

The bank spokesman said barges will be used if Black Ball is struck, "but shipments may be wider spaced because of the resultant higher costs. This may bring some shortage of silver on the Island. The situation is not serious yet, but it soon could be."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

The average temperature for May of 56.9 degrees was the highest ever recorded here, according to the city weather office.

Temperature average for last month was 3.4 degrees above normal, and the extremes recorded were 81.2 on the 18th, and 41.2 on the 13th.

There were seven days of measurable rain, or two less than normal, while the total fall for the month was 1.08 inches, .15 above normal.

Firemen were called to the home of Barbara Smythe, 2774 Tudor, at about 7 a.m. today when the smoking radio set filled the kitchen with fumes.

The radio was a total loss while the range and kitchen received minor damage.

Doncaster Cedar Hill PTA will hold its annual tea for parents of children starting school in September on Wednesday, at 2:30 p.m., in Doncaster School auditorium.

Francis Sampson, Brentwood Bay, was sentenced in city police court today to three months in jail for his third impaired driving conviction.

He was given 15 days concurrent for driving while under suspension after pleading guilty to both charges.

Police said he was seen at 5:10 p.m. Sunday driving west on Fisgard, weaving from side to side, striking and straddling a curb and, finally stopping after the car brushed a power pole.

For one and one-half hours this morning, the flag atop the pole at the lookout in Beacon Hill Park was upside-down.

It was reversed around 9 a.m. after reports to city hall. "I don't know how it happened," said parks commissioner W. H. Warren. "Somebody must have been asleep."

Bombings Protested By Orthodox Douks

A convention of orthodox members resolved, "whoever is responsible must be apprehended and brought to answer for his crime, so that terrorists will terrorize no more."

"During the past many years, we have had the misfortune to suffer most of all from the terrorists. We pledge our wholehearted support to any sound endeavor to solve this problem without delay."

Premier Bennett said he has asked the federal government to "co-operate" in ending the repeated bombings and burnings.

The 32-foot cruiser Marcia broke down near William Head late Saturday, and was towed in by a B.C. Pilotage launch.

The cruiser suffered a mechanical breakdown in calm weather after watching the start of the Swiftsure race.

Pilotage reports there were two men, a woman and five children aboard. The cruiser proceeded to the RVCV anchorage at Cadboro Bay after repairs were completed.

A suggestion that the July Saanich by-election for the reeveship of Saanich be delayed until the December elections, to save costs, was made today by Eugene Diespecker, who unsuccessfully contested the office last year.

A by-election is required to replace Reeve Arthur Ash, retiring from office on June 7 for business reasons.

But the suggestion was coldly received by the Department of Municipal Affairs, which said it would be creating a precedent and would not be in accordance with the Municipal Act.

Charles Norman Thompson, Latoria Road, was fined $25 and $6.50 costs in Colwood RCMP court today when he pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance in a restaurant.

An immediate public withdrawal of statements made by former CCF House leader Arthur Turner in Vancouver Sunday was demanded by Premier Bennett today.

Mr. Turner, a Vancouver newspaper reporter, told the annual convention of the CCF in Vancouver, he was reliably informed civil service appointments must all be approved by the premier, except in the case of mental health service employees.

Two nine-inch slabs of fruit cake destined for someone's wedding fell prey to burglars who broke into Jacob's Bakery, 305 Cook.

Entry was discovered Saturday afternoon. Police suspect juveniles.

Gordon Caldwell, 26, of 1152 Johnson, was treated for head cuts at Jubilee Hospital Saturday.

He was injured after crashing through a window of a Government Street hotel.

He had tried to "referee" a disturbance between three newly-discharged soldiers and two beer-parlor waiters.

Why the argument? The soldiers wanted to take away a beer-parlor table.

They claim that, because of neglect, he developed an infection which arrested the growth of his right leg, now almost four inches shorter than the left.

The infection is said to have developed after the hospital took a blood test from one of the boy's toes preceding circumcision. He was then five days old.

Mr. Wootton submitted that the hospital took every possible precaution in taking blood tests. The toe was swabbed with alcohol, then punctured with a sterilized hypodermic needle and swabbed off again with alcohol.

He argued that the boy's affliction—arising from osteomyelitis, a bone disease—was not necessarily the result of the blood test.

BAD LUCK
Addressing Mr. Trotter, Mr. Wootton said:

"In spite of all generally recognized standards of procedure and all precautions taken in piercing, puncturing or cutting the skin, micro-organisms could be bad luck enter the body."

Dr. Trotter: "Yes, I suppose that is true."

Defence Opens In Hospital 'Neglect' Case

A Victoria doctor admitted in the B.C. Supreme Court today that in spite of all precautions taken in puncturing a patient's skin it is possible for infectious micro-organisms to enter the body.

Dr. A. E. Trotter made this admission under cross-examination by R. A. Wootton, QC, who is defending St. Joseph's Hospital against a charge of neglect leading to infection of a newborn baby.

The hospital is being sued by six-year-old Michael John Hillier of 1961 Ash Street, and his parents, Petty Officer Ellis W. Hillier, RCN, and Mrs. Hillier.

STOPPED GROWTH

They claim that, because of neglect, he developed an infection which arrested the growth of his right leg, now almost four inches shorter than the left.

The infection is said to have developed after the hospital took a blood test from one of the boy's toes preceding circumcision. He was then five days old.

Mr. Wootton submitted that the hospital took every possible precaution in taking blood tests. The toe was swabbed with alcohol, then punctured with a sterilized hypodermic needle and swabbed off again with alcohol.

He argued that the boy's affliction—arising from osteomyelitis, a bone disease—was not necessarily the result of the blood test.

BAD LUCK
Addressing Mr. Trotter, Mr. Wootton said:

Dr. Trotter: "Yes, I suppose that is true."

Committee to Enforce Rigid Zoo Regulation

Rigid control of all British Columbia zoos has been placed in the hands of a five-man committee by the provincial cabinet.

The committee will set regulations, which may vary for various zoo applicants, conduct inspections, and revoke licences where high standards are not achieved and maintained.

Recreation and Conservation Minister E. C. Westwood said today, in announcing the committee's powers:

"There will be very rigid control. It is possible some of the establishments now operating will be required to go to heavy expense to remain in operation."

The committee's powers are effective today. The Hertel zoo at Nanaimo, where a little girl was killed by an escaped lioness last month, will be "immediately investigated."

LIMITED TIME

"The committee will lay down the regulations, give Mr. Hertel a limited time if alterations are required, then if he doesn't comply he'll just have to close."

The committee is headed by F. R. Butler, B.C. fish and game branch.

Members are Dr. J. Hatter, chief game biologist; Leonard Hughes, secretary-manager of B.C. SPCA; Dr. Ian McTaggart Cowan, UBC department of zoology, and Allan Best, Stanley Park zoo curator.

The minister said game wardens will also carry out zoo inspections and SPCA groups throughout the province will "no doubt be watching very closely."

ORDER-IN-COUNCIL

The order-in-council establishing the committee powers also gives authority to game wardens to shoot on sight, any escaped animal. Mr. Westwood said the order will cover five existing zoos and bird and animal showplaces in B.C.

Hotel Strike Ends As Union Drops Shop Issue

The nine-week strike at the Ritz Hotel ended this morning, with the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' Union withdrawing its demand for a union shop.

Manageress Mrs. Winifred E. Rayfuse said both sides agreed early in the strike that union security was the only issue.

Wages offered 85 cents an hour for maids, 75 cents for girls—had already been accepted by the union.

Under the terms of settlement, three employees may retain membership in the union. Seven other employees affected are not union members.

Mrs. Pangman Funeral Tuesday

Mrs. Eileen Mary Pangman, wife of Charles W. Pangman, 520 Transit Road, died suddenly at her home Saturday after 37 years of residence here.

With her husband, she was known here through Mr. Pangman's position as manager of the Bank of Toronto from 1922 to 1946, when he retired.

Surviving besides her husband are two sons, Douglas W. and Edward K., both of North Vancouver; a daughter, Ruth E., at home; four grandchildren, four brothers and a sister.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. at St. Mary's Church, Elgin Road, and will be followed by cremation.

New Suede Windbreaker Features Built-In Shirt!

By PENNY SAVER

Latest rage in men's wear (and I do mean a rage!) is the shirt and windbreaker combination. A cotton poplin shirt sewn into a suede, rain-resistant jacket makes this a practical garment indeed. It's in two-tone brown and is selling for $18.50.

And men, because the jacket is suede... you can be sure it will last for years!

Confirmed windbreaker wearers... look! These ever-popular jackets are now buttoned with four clasps at the waist leaving a loose V-front. They're rain-resistant and washable too!

These snazzy toppers will lend themselves to our comparatively mild climate. Be one of the first in town to sport one for $7.95 each!

He's gone swimming... and in a pair of the sharpest looking tartan trunks ever seen! Made by a famous-name manufacturer, those eye-catching colors (Black Watch tartan included) will brighten up local beaches all summer. Elastic waists and small pockets jazz up these trunks and make them worth that price of $5.95.

Ivy League? You bet! I mean of course, corduroy pin-striped trousers for the menfolk. Straight cut gives a man a slim, trim look and the strap back... and well, need we say more? Fashion-wise males will certainly go for that! These trousers are in neutral shade at $9.95 a pair.

Gunny cloth slacks are another style trend for our menfolk this season. They're light, cool and wear like canvas! No wonder men are starting to wear them for gardening, work, golfing and all casual wear. They're selling at $7.95 a pair in soft muted tones... to mix 'n match with all shades.

Shopping for the man? Then phone me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where to look.

Name May Change, Motto Alter—Ideals Remain

HALIFAX (CP)—The 58th annual meeting of the National Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, began officially here Saturday night with opening ceremonies and greetings by Nova Scotia's Lieutenant-Governor E. C. Plow, Attorney-General R. A. Donahue and Mayor C. A. Vaughan of Halifax.

Mrs. A. K. Richardson of Toronto, IODE national president, told delegates that although the name of the order might some day be changed and its motto, one flag, one throne, one empire altered, its basic democratic ideals never would be.

She said: "Even though it may be felt by some that the motto and name are outdated, I still am proud to use them, for they are symbols of an old and honorable regime." She told delegates they owe loyalty to ideals of godliness, justice and freedom, for which the British monarchy stood.

About 200 delegates from all parts of Canada are attending the convention.

The Mayfair award of merit was presented to the organization on behalf of the editors of Mayfair magazine. The award is presented annually to an organization or institution which has contributed above and beyond the call of duty to Canada.

Mrs. Richardson accepted the gift a silver tray for the 32,000 IODE members throughout Canada.

She reviewed the order's history since its founding in 1901, noting that its educational program had grown from "the granting of gold and silver medals for essay contests and preparing patriotic programs for schools" to $280,000 spent annually on education of Canadian boys and girls.

THE PROOF OF POPULARITY!

I have tested the mileage and have had very good results. I also find it possesses exceptional pickup on the highway.

The roadability of the vehicle is perfect. Smooth and easy to drive, and I enjoyed particularly the coil spring suspension.
Yours truly,

The ride is excellent and my gas mileage is exceptionally good. Although I am 6'4", I have plenty of room to drive very comfortably even with a hat on.
AK Berg

It handled like a sports car yet the ride felt like a much heavier car. No oil was used at all and gas mileage averaged an amazing twenty-four miles to the gallon.
Yours truly,

I have driven Pontiacs for the last ten years and this 1958 Pontiac is the best one yet. Its looks and performance are outstanding in every way.
Yours truly,

The graceful lines of its styling are most attractive and in my estimation are more impressive than many of the bigger car lines.

As an owner of one of these fine cars I find it excellent in roadability, comfort and economy. I would also like to point out an obvious fact that Pontiac this year is easily the finest looking car in its field.
George W. Wainwright

An indication of our complete satisfaction with the 1958 Pontiac, we are placing orders for additional cars for immediate delivery.
Yours very truly,
J. H. Davis
Calgary, Alta.

We particularly commend the button at the side for the windshield wipers and the easy manipulation of the emergency brake. Back seat "riders" have told us that the ride is very smooth and as the sole driver of the car, I like the broad vision mirror and the power steering. I find the car beautiful to handle and if I could just leave Mother at home one time, I'm sure "Debbie" could show her heels to the best car on the road! She seems to have so much power for a small car.
Sincerely yours,
Anna H. Brown
Victoria, B.C.

The riding qualities of the Pontiac are excellent and the economy of operation is very gratifying as most of my driving is done in the city. I believe, however, that the outstanding feature is the ease of handling which is, of course, most attractive to Mrs. Caldwell. During a recent discussion of local driving conditions she made the remark that she was sure she could drive my Pontiac through the "eye of a needle."

Women Mayors, Comptrollers, Councillors Head Polls, Talk Proudly of Expansion in Various Parts of Canada

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Some women attending the 21st annual conference of Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities in Victoria today are several entitled to be addressed as "Your Worship."

They talk fluently of sewage disposal plans, extension of parks systems, industrial expansion and public health needs and yet, they are as feminine in looks and manners as any woman who marks her calendar with nothing but dates for teas, bridge parties and dinners.

There's a group of women councillors here, too, and a number of women aldermen.

They can hold their own in debate and argument on the conference floor and yet, nearly every one of them tells proudly of sons or daughters and also of grandchildren.

In most instances all have been in civic life for some years and in the various elections have headed the polls on more than one occasion.

WORKING TOGETHER

All stress the point that while they wish to see women represented in public life and the feminine viewpoint placed on record they feel that working with men is the way to get things done.

Mayor Nance Horwood of Brampton, Ont., the "flower child" of Western Ontario, was seven years a councillor and is in her fourth year as mayor. Her city celebrated its 100th anniversary five years ago and it has doubled its population in the past seven years. "We're expanding from the industrial angle too," this attractive woman says.

Miss Winnifred Williams has been mayor of Ingersoll, Ont., for two years and was alderman for three years before that. "I do everything from opening the baseball season (with an underhand throw) to attending church teas," she says. Her parents were pioneers in Ontario and she is descended from United Empire Loyalist stock.

STREETS AND PARKS

Renewal of streets and sidewalks, extension of parks facilities and renovation of the old city hall, ("it had not been painted for 50 years") are all high on Mayor Williams' program.

A retired school teacher, she was elected alderman by acclamation the first year; topped the polls the second time and defeated two men in the mayoralty election.

Clubwomen's News

In Costume—A study of Japan was made at a recent meeting of the Afternoon Auxiliary of the Woman's Missionary Society of Metropolitan United Church, with Mrs. Joseph Jones and Mrs. C. S. Batstone, in Japanese costume, representing the youth of Japan. They told of young Japanese people trying to live modern lives in opposition to the traditional beliefs of their parents. Mrs. E. Crummy led the devotional, and Mrs. K. O. Henderson was pianist. It was announced that the annual birthday party will take place Monday in Pendray Hall.

Mayor Eunice Wishart, of Port Arthur, is in her third term as head of her city. She was first elected in 1951, and has served as chairman of the finance committee for two years. At present she is vice-president of the Ontario Mayors' Association.

She is proud of the fact that Port Arthur is expanding industrially due to the deep-sea waterway and that just before she left for the Pacific Coast she lighted the torch which signified natural gas had been piped in from Alberta.

She is a mother and a grandmother. Carrie Jane Gray became first woman mayor of the bustling city of Prince George, B.C., in December, 1953. She was called simply for "honesty and integrity" in municipal government. Mrs. Gray was completing her third term as an alderman. She was first elected in 1951, and has served as chairman of health, parks, zoning and cemetery committees. She is vice-president of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities and is the third woman mayor in the history of the province.

"I've always been a housewife," she tells you, "and until I ran for alderman had never been in public life." She has three sons and two daughters.

Reeve Dorothy Hague of Swansea, Ont. (in the Metropolitan Council, 15 years in municipal work, 15 of them on the board of education. She represents her 10th ward on the board of the Metropolitan Council. "I have the same responsibilities as a mayor," she tells you. She has one daughter and one grandchild.

As comptroller in Windsor, Ont., Councillor Mrs. Cameron H. Montrose, has almost equal responsibilities with the mayor. "In fact, we often work as a team," she says. Parks and playgrounds are her special "loves." In private life she tells you proudly are two sons and a four-and-a-half-month-old grandson.

Mrs. Ann Pritchard of Hamilton, Ont., is serving her fourth year as comptroller after three years as an alderman. She is now the senior member of the council, vice-president of the board of control and acts for the mayor when he is absent. She topped the polls in 1956.

Every feminine visitor in Victoria for the conference of Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, received a basket of flowers in her room. Flowers were gathered from the parks and from private gardens in the city and arranged at the parks greenhouses in Beacon Hill. They were taken to the Empress Hotel in five trucks and distributed by wives of aldermen and reeves. The card on each basket read: "Just a few flowers from our own gardens to welcome you. With the compliments of the women's committee."

Following the recital of the Musical Art Society in the Art Gallery Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ingram Smith will entertain at their home on Kings Road in honor of Miss Madonna McCabe, soprano; Miss Joanne Dawson, pianist and Mr. Richard Proudman, accompanist. Mrs. William Ellis and Mrs. R. D. McCaw will preside at the refreshment table and serving will be the Misses Margery Vaughan, Elsie Friend, Florence Miller and Lorna Langley.

Weekend Visitors
Lt. Col. J. C. Cave was in Victoria on the weekend and attended with Mrs. Cave the Trooping of the Color at Work Point Barracks on Saturday afternoon.

Major and Mrs. J. C. Currie were here from Vancouver to attend the Trooping of the Color last Saturday at Work Point. They were guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Stenstrom at their home on Cardigan Road for the weekend.

'SYMBOL OF UNDYING SPIRIT' 6,000 Thrilled By Trooping Rite

By TONY DICKASON

Trooping the Color Saturday by the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, was a thoroughly impressive ceremonial which held rivetted attention of 6,000 observers at Work Point Barracks.

The crowd was double the number forecast.

SUNSET RITE TONIGHT AT 9

Sunset ceremony will be performed tonight at 9 on the Legislative Buildings lawn by 2455 Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron, RCAF (Auxiliary).

Parade commander will be Lt. Joseph Jupp and Cpl. Ora Collard will head the color party.

The ceremony will be repeated by the squadron June 5, 9, 12 and 19.

Prayers Tonight For Mrs. Hart; Service Tuesday

Prayers will be said in Hayward's chapel tonight at 8, and requiem mass held in St. Andrew's Cathedral Tuesday at 11 a.m. for widow of former B.C. premier John Hart, Mrs. Harriet Hart.

Born in Victoria of pioneer stock and a resident here most of her life, she died Saturday at her home, 1961 Fairfield.

Interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

TRAFFIC FINES

In Colwood RCMP court Friday:

Alfred Edwin Wright, 1983 Neil, $15 and $3 costs for speeding over 50.

Martha Iris Milburn, 2820 Inlet, $10 and $3 costs for passing on a solid line.

William Jamison, Colwood, $10 and $3 costs for failing to stop at a stop sign.

Founders of the regiment and honorary colonel, Brig. Hamilton Gault, DSO, read a cabled congratulatory message from Princess Patricia of Connaught, the regiment's colonel-in-chief, who gave her name to the regiment 44 years ago.

Later, Brig. Gault, in his address to the battalion, said the regimental spirit had remained unchanged since the founding and "the Color given the regiment by Princess Patricia at the end of the First World War is the symbol of this undying spirit."

READY

"This is no time to relax. There is always something crying out to be done and the Princess Patricias are always ready to do it."

"You will be taking further training in this summer of the nuclear age," he said. "New training for new ideas. But whatever the problem the strength of an army is based on discipline, the self-imposed discipline of the soldier."

The colorful rite was the first permanent force ceremony of its kind ever held in B.C.

VLC Studying Chamber Letter

An open letter from Victoria Chamber of Commerce, refuting claims by local unionists that the chamber is not interested in the welfare of the working man, is still being studied, council secretary-treasurer A. W. Toone, said today.

The letter was delivered to council president Robert Dalrymple and recognized by chamber directors Friday. It was in answer to statements attributed to certain unionists that the chamber represents primarily the interests of big business and "has an underlying motive of greed and profit."

In their open letter officials declared a chamber policy was also interested in the welfare of the working man.

the trade union movement as "a major force" in the Canadian economy. It noted, however, that probably most Canadians were opposed to the use of the strike weapon for the settlement of disputes in essential services where a work stoppage was contrary to the public interest.

whether a council reply would be forthcoming.

Finns Get Aid From Russia

LONDON (Reuters)—Russia agreed Friday to give Finland a long-term credit of 450,000,000 rubles ($110,000,000) for extending the Finnish economy.

RELATIONS WITH FRANCE HIGHLIGHTS MAC'S VISIT

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan flies to North America this week for talks in Washington and Ottawa that take on a new aspect with the developments in France.

The talks can be expected to decide on a joint approach to Gen. Charles de Gaulle in an effort to ensure his loyalty to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Western military strategists are privately worried about the future of some defence bases—especially in North Africa.

The prime minister will spend Friday night in Washington, fly to de Pauw University in Indianapolis to deliver the commencement address Saturday, then return to Washington for top-level talks Monday and Tuesday. He flies to Ottawa Wednesday.

Federal Sales Tax Cash Asked For Civic Gov't

By JOHN MIKA

Diversion of the 10 per cent federal sales tax into municipal coffers was proposed today by the president of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

L. D. Jackson, mayor of Hamilton, Ont., advanced the suggestion at the 1958 convention in the Empress Hotel "entirely on my own responsibility" when he delivered the 1958 presidential address to more than 400 delegates.

"Such a move on the part of the federal government would be an important contribution towards easing the municipal financial burden and would fully protect the independence of the municipalities," he said.

Unofficial tally of delegates and wives attending the convention was placed at 600 today with more expected to turn up.

Bulk of the delegates arrived Sunday after special arrangements with Black Ball Ferries and Vancouver Island Coach Lines were made to get them over from the mainland in spite of the seamen's strike against CPR ferries.

Convention, opening ceremonies included a devotional period led by Rev. H. J. Jones of St. Mary's Anglican Church, Oak Bay.

Welcomes were extended to delegates by B.C. Municipal Affairs Minister W. D. Black and Mayor Percy Scurrell. Windsor Mayor Michael Patrick welcomed visiting U.S. mayors and Calgary Mayor D. H. MacKay welcomed visiting provincial ministers of municipal affairs and their deputies.

Mayor Jackson said municipal governments were in the "front line trenches" of the battle to meet increasing demands for the services by all three levels of government.

The bulk of municipal financing is based on real estate and business taxes which do not respond to rises in the price structure as do the revenue sources of provincial and federal governments.

"I content that (municipal

Along with his suggestion, Mayor Jackson vehemently opposed any move to municipal leaders to ask senior governments to take over municipal problems that become burdensome.

"Too often we hear of municipal organizations and individual mayors appealing to the senior governments to take over this or that," he said. "If we

NO VICTORS BUT PLENTY OF VANQUISHED

A quick-witted Tory brought the house down today at the opening ceremonies of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities convention.

Calgary Mayor Donald MacKay, welcoming provincial ministers, asked if there were any representatives of the federal government present.

"If we haven't, we've certainly got a lot of unsuccessful candidates," quipped an unidentified delegate, touching off a roar of laughter and table thumping.

"Let's put that down as the classic joke of the convention right now," replied Mayor MacKay, defeated Liberal candidate in the last federal election.

government) is the most important level of government because we are closer to the people," he said.

With municipal revenue sources stripped by the senior governments, municipalities "too long in this triumvirate of government have been taking an inferior position."

The crux of the problems facing municipalities is lack of adequate revenue sources to meet rising costs and demands for services.

Mayor Jackson suggested the federal sales tax as "a direct and simple way for the federal government to assist municipalities" because it is relatively stable, broad and uniform in application and has not been branded as objectionable by the general public.

He said he was against municipalities shedding any of their responsibilities because local government "is the very fabric of our Canadian life. When local government becomes a mere spending arm of a higher level of government, we might as well be taken over by the federal government."

Strike Mediator 'Not Too Hopeful'

A shadow hung over the possibility of an early settlement of the steamships strike today with the reported statement by federal mediator Eric Taylor that he was "not too optimistic" about the outcome of a meeting scheduled for later today between CPR and the striking Seafarers' International Union.

Mr. Taylor made the statement in Vancouver after separate meetings during the week-end with management and union representatives at a secret rendezvous.

Meanwhile, new talks are expected to get under way Tuesday between Black Ball Ferries and three unions seeking pay increases.

The SIU, as well as the National Association of Marine Engineers and the Canadian Merchant Service Guild have voted to strike Black Ball to back up pay demands, but no deadline has been set.

Public Power Policy Set For Columbia River Hydro

HANDS ACROSS THE BORDER

International friendship theme of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities convention here was exemplified by this handshake between Los Angeles Mayor Norris Poulson

(left) and Mayor Percy Scurrell. Mayor Poulson said attending convention was "just like crossing the street to visit your neighbors" when replying to official welcome.

GOV'T ASKS ANOTHER $58 MILLION

OTTAWA (CP) — The government today informed Parliament it will require an additional $58,151,061 in estimated expenditures for the current fiscal year, boosting total anticipated outlays to a record of about $5,800,000,000.

De Gaulle Threatens To Resign

PARIS (AP) — Gen. Charles de Gaulle threatened to resign after only one day of power today unless the French National Assembly votes him his full program of constitutional reform and full powers to govern for six months.

PARIS (UPI) — Premier Charles de Gaulle won approval today for two-thirds of his program designed to save France from chaos.

But he faced a major legislative battle on the remaining, and perhaps most critical, part of his proposals in the reluctant National Assembly.

A government spokesman issued a statement strongly implying that de Gaulle might let France slip into virtual anarchy unless he wins on all three issues.

The deputies voted 322 to 232 to allow de Gaulle to run France for six months without parliamentary interference. But the Assembly completely rewrote the bill to limit sharply the areas in which he could rule by decree.

Earlier, it had quickly passed, 337 to 199, a bill extending the government's emergency powers in Algeria—powers that had been given routinely to a succession of French cabinets.

STUMBLING BLOCK

A third bill to permit changes to be made in the constitution by the people rather than by the Assembly was still up for consideration. And it could be the stumbling block to de Gaulle's success.

The general has insisted that he receive approval for all three measures before he acts to solve the crisis that almost provoked civil war.

"These bills remain an absolutely essential previous condition on setting up a government," a spokesman for de Gaulle said.

"It is not until after all three have been adopted by parliament that de Gaulle will complete his cabinet and will define the functions of the ministers and secretaries of state he has named."

The Assembly voted the tall, grim-faced wartime leader into office by a vote of 329 to 228 Sunday night.

The general made his sweeping demands in a cold, calm, six-minute speech to the hushed chamber. He needed the powers, he said, to avert a "break-up and perhaps civil war" in France.

Rising also to plague the new government was mounting disaffection in Algeria over membership of the de Gaulle cabinet.

A particular sore point was the selection of de Gaulle's predecessor, Pierre Pflimlin, as minister of state. Only last week Algerians thronged war-demonstrating: "Pflimlin to the gallows."

The French army Sunday night clamped a virtual martial law-regime on Algeria, giving the army under Gen. Raoul Salan — French commander-in-chief there — complete power over the civil administration.

The decree signed by Salan was issued after indications that the more extremist French settlers in Algeria were deeply disappointed by de Gaulle's program speech and cabinet list. In particular, they were reported bitter that it did not include Jacques Soustelle, fierce de Gaulle supporter.

Bennett Announces Decision by B.C.

By PETE LOUDON

Premier W. A. C. Bennett today announced the huge hydro development of the Columbia River—when approved by federal and U.S. authorities—will be by a public agency, rather than a private firm.

He added, "But I didn't say the B.C. Power Commission."

He said if a financial partnership in the project is reached with the federal government, Ottawa authorities may ask that a separate public hydro corporation be set up. He did not rule out the B.C. Power Commission as the developing body, however.

The premier said, "We hope the power developed will be available to both private and public power distribution. But the actual development will be a public power project."

The premier's statement ended three years of speculation. CCF members in the legislature have repeatedly questioned the government on the development.

The announcement was contained in general remarks by the premier concerning the provincial convention of the CCF in Vancouver over the weekend.

The convention renewed the party's stand for public development of all B.C. power. Party leader Robert Strachan claimed the next provincial election will be fought primarily on the issue of public power.

He said the Social Credit government and previous governments had acted to preserve the prosperity of the largest private power corporation in the province, the B.C. Electric. "The B.C. Electric has never lost an election," he said.

Blossoming Into Political Issue

The timing of the premier's statement on public power appeared to support the importance of the issue politically.

"I note the issue is now clear-cut between the Social Credit middle-of-the-road policies and state socialism," said Mr. Bennett.

"They have again endorsed the Regina Manifesto. The people of B.C. should not be lulled into thinking it is just the B.C. Electric (which would be taken over). That's just a stepping stone."

"Social Credit believes in both public power and private power. The CCF would take over the existing private power at a cost they admit to be in excess of $400,000,000, and they wouldn't create a single new job."

"The Social Credit government is always developing new power, creating new jobs and new industries. We certainly wouldn't use the people's money. We would use the credit of the province. . . .

"When the federal government settles with the U.S. on downstream benefits, power, irrigation and flood control . . . as I have intimated before, development will be by public power. It will create new jobs and prime the economy of the province."

"The CCF would put the cold hand of state socialism on the industry of the province," he added.

Federal government studies on the Upper Columbia River development are still incomplete. Important reports are expected by the end of this year, concerning best methods of using the river potential.

The basic plan is for a high level dam at Mica Creek, just south of the Big Bend of the Columbia. Five years ago it was estimated to cost $300,000,000. It would produce 1,200,000

Star Witness Accused Of 'Ulterior Motive'

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Crown's key witness in the Sommers bribery trial today was again charged by the defence with having "an ulterior motive" while employed as a bookkeeper for one of four companies accused in the case.

"The accusation came from defence counsel J. R. Nicholson as accountant Charles Eversfield, formerly with Pacific Coast Services Ltd., took the stand for the eighth day.

Eversfield flatly denied having any such motive.

The trial before a jury of nine men and three women now is in its 18th day and is expected to run at least until the end of June.

Central figure is former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers who resigned his portfolio in 1956 but still is a member of the legislature. Also charged in the 18-count indictment are H. W. Gray, John Gray, C. D. Schultz, the C. D. Schultz Company Limited, Pacific Coast Services, Evergreen Lumber Sales and B.C. Coast Products.

PAPER AMMUNITION: Mr. Nicholson questioned Eversfield closely on a number of "working papers" which he compiled while at Pacific. They were among bundles of documents which he took from company files when he left in March, 1955, and which now form the basis of the Crown's case.

The defence lawyer, who is acting for H. W. Gray and the Pacific and Evergreen firms, said to the witness: "I suggest you were accumulating ammunition, that's why you had such a multiplicity of documents; you completed them and then hit up Mr. H. W. Gray for recompense."

"You had an ulterior objective, an ulterior motive in mind."

"That is absolutely incorrect, Mr. Nicholson," Eversfield replied.

The witness went on to explain that he had to re-do these documents several times at the instance of Mr. Gray. The documents were supposed to show how moneys were to be split between Gray, Sommers and Schultz.

Eversfield testified under further cross-examination that he would estimate there were some 20 transactions through the alleged split fund and said probably a total of eight of them involved moneys from the C. D. Schultz firm.

In reply to another question the witness said he would estimate at between seven and eight the number of transactions between Pacific Coast Services or H. W. Gray and Robert Sommers.

Remember the Solarium Tonight

Referring to the flights of American bombers, the Soviet premier said:

"We state with profound regret that the government of Canada has not refrained from sharing with the government of the U.S.A. to a certain degree the responsibility for such flights; this is testified to by the recent signing of an agreement between the U.S.A. and Canada on the unification of the command of the air forces of both countries."

Premier Khrushchev was referring to the North American Air Defence Command established jointly by Canada and the United States. The two countries signed an agreement May 27.

During the weeks to come you will follow him over the Arctic wastes, trailing spies in Ottawa, testing Canada's latest CF 105 aircraft, on rescue missions into the wilds, in fact, on anything the RCAF assigns him.

Danny is the creation of two ex-RCAF pilots, Bob McCormick and Bill Dulmage. Bob is a graduate of Ontario College of Art and Bill, who does the writing, from Carleton College School of Journalism.

Together, through Danny's personification, they do the things they'd still love to be doing since the days when they put their wartime flying experiences behind them. Start the strip on Page 12.

PAGE ONE CONFESSION BY ACQUITTED SLAYER

LONDON (Reuters) — A former business executive Sunday confessed in a front-page newspaper story to the slaying of a car dealer for whose murder he had been acquitted.

Donald Hume, 36, said in his Sunday Pictorial confession that "I murdered Stanley Setty in my flat" Oct. 4, 1949. "I stabbed him to death with a dagger while we were fighting," he said. At his trial in 1950, Hume denied he killed Setty.

He was found not guilty of murder but guilty of being an accessory in dumping Setty's dismembered body from a plane over the Essex marshes.

He was sentenced to 12 years in prison but was released last February after eight years.

Under British law a man cannot be retried for a crime of which he has been acquitted.

12 formally setting out principles governing operation of an integrated headquarters at Colorado Springs.

The Soviet premier was replying to a strongly worded letter he received early in May from Mr. Diefenbaker expressing Canadian disappointment over Russia's United Nations veto of an American proposal for Arctic inspection.

Premier Khrushchev had appeared in a letter to Mr. Diefenbaker early in April for Canada to use her influence to get the U.S. and Britain to stop testing nuclear weapons.

CULTIVATE DISTRUST

The Russian premier said reservations and doubts expressed by Mr. Diefenbaker make it difficult "to avoid getting an impression that they are engendered in the last analysis by that distrust towards the Soviet Union which is constantly being cultivated in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization."

"For instance, your letter presents the matter in such a way as if the actions of the Soviet government against the peace-endangering flights of American planes with atomic and hydrogen bombs to the borders of the Soviet Union in a way reduce the importance of its (Russia's) decision to stop, from the spring of 1958, testing all types of nuclear weapons."

"Not to mention that those arguments contain a great deal of artificiality since they treat as similar such actions completely different in their nature as the cessation of nuclear weapon tests and the clearly provocative practice of the American strategic aviation; the very appraisal of the actions of the U.S.A. government in this matter is extremely one-sided."

DANGER TO CANADA

It would seem, the letter said, that leading statesmen of Canada, over whose territory the U.S. bombers are making flights "should not be indifferent to these flights, which also constitute, if the facts are to be faced, a grave danger for Canada itself."

"If there were quite a few occasions in the past when countries were drawn into wars contrary to their wishes and intentions then in our times this danger has increased a hundred times."

"You will probably deny the correctness of this statement," Premier Khrushchev told Mr. Diefenbaker. "Indeed, you will be most likely to do that referring to the good intentions of your people and your government."

"I am not going to question the sincerity of your arguments. But, Mr. Prime Minister, the logic of things can prove to be stronger than man's logic even if the latter is backed by the best motives."

Khrushchev asked whether the reaction of the Canadian government would be different if Russia started sending bombers carrying atomic bombs to the frontiers of Canada.

TO U.S.S.R. BORDERS

The Soviet premier said the present danger to peace is not constituted in the absence of aerial inspection in the Arctic but "exclusively in the flights of American bombers to the borders of the U.S.S.R."

He said he had expected to find in Mr. Diefenbaker's letter assurance that Canada would attempt to persuade the U.S. and Britain to stop nuclear testing.

"Some foundations for this were given to us by your recent statement in Toronto where you expressed the hope that the Western powers would soon end nuclear-weapon testing. Unfortunately your letter does not confirm this."

TICKET SHARED FOUR WAYS

5 Have Chance Here in 'Irish'

Five Victoria men have their fingers crossed today after their tickets in the Irish Sweepstakes were drawn on horses entered in the Epsom Derby to be run Wednesday.

Four of the men share a four-way ticket on Hard Ridden, a 20-1 shot among the possible 26 starters in the classic race.

The four are Wilfrid Jones, 48, of 2181 Haultain, co-owner of a service station; Dave Kenny, 41, of 1927 Quamichan, a salesman; C. W. Paulin, 58, of 559 Pembroke, finance company manager; and Emil "Dutchy" Reid, 82, retired, 832 Old Esquimalt Road.

The other ticket, on Veronese, is held by Jim Napper, 37, of 3400 Browning, a car salesman and commanding officer of the Navy League Cadets.

Non-de-plume of the four holding a ticket on Hard Ridden is "Kitchen Club," and Mr. Napper's pseudonym is "Evelyn."

Neither of the horses are favorites, with Veronese listed a doubtful starter. However, the ticket holders are sure of about $2,000 even if the horses fail to start.

Tickets on the winning horse will bring up to $140,000.

Soviet Boats 'Suspicious'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state department has notified Russia—in response to a Soviet complaint—that the U.S. Navy is keeping close watch on shipping in the ocean approaches to the United States.

Moscow had protested that U.S. aircraft had buzzed Soviet trawlers in international waters near the Grand Banks off Canada.

State department press officer Lincoln White said the Soviet complaint was made about mid-April and that it received a prompt answer.

Privately, informants said that the behavior of the Soviet trawler fleet along sea and air routes between the U.S. east coast and Europe is suspicious in some respects.

The Russian vessels were said to be in waters which are not normally heavily fished. They seem to have a large amount of electronic detection equipment such as radar. The number of vessels is constant, one arriving as another departs.

'Quit NATO' Call From CCF Parley

'Gone Down the Drain'—Cameron; World Ban on Nuclear Tests Urged

Canada's withdrawal from NATO, and a world ban on nuclear tests, was recommended Sunday by the B.C. section of the CCF in convention at Vancouver.

The resolution also said Canada should offer its total defence appropriation to United Nations for maintenance of a UN police force and strengthening of UN agencies.

The decision to seek collective security through the UN followed remarks by former Nanaimo MP Colin Cameron, who said:

"It is an open secret at Ottawa that NATO has gone down the drain."

Proof of its military insignificance, he said, was the fact the United States has refused to place its first defence line, the

Investigation of Indian Affairs

The convention voted to set up a CCF commission to investigate Indian affairs "... so we can effectively work with, and assist the native people in their fight against injustice and for equality."

It called for increased study and increased spending by the government toward the same end.

Esquimalt High School teacher Pat Thomas told the convention there is a tremendous ignorance of Indian conditions among students.

"When I mention we have a band of Indians on a reserve near Victoria, there is a certain amount of chuckling and expressions of contempt. I think it reflects the home attitude."

He felt the CCF should bring home to people that condition of B.C. Indians "... is one of the most tragic aspects of life in B.C. at the present time."

The convention called for a CCF government to establish a continuing committee on education methods and curriculum. It would include representatives of the department, UBC, B.C. Teachers' Federation and the Provincial Parent-Teacher Association.

A second resolution said a CCF government would seek federal government financial

Posse Beards Hairless Men With Fines

LANGFORD—A posse headed by "Sheriff" Bill Okell is ready to pounce on beardless men and unsunbonnetted women in Colwood, Langford, Glen Lake and Happy Valley.

Beard and bonnet regulations came into effect Saturday night, but Sheriff Okell and his men said they gave the public "a break" Sunday. For the next three weeks there will be no excuses and the posse vows to be merciless.

"A one-day beard is hard to prove, but a two-day growth will save a man from arrest," the sheriff said.

Offenders will be fined 25c for failing to observe local regulations and trials will be held on the spot. The "fines" will be turned over to the Centennial Park project.

U.K. CEREMONY FOR PIONEER

BOURNEMOUTH, England (Reuters)—In the churchyard of St. Peter's Church here, Canadians Sunday honored the memory of the man who founded New Westminster, B.C.

He was Maj.-Gen. Richard Clement Moody, who died at Bournemouth, in 1887, aged 74.

A plaque to his memory was unveiled by 11-year-old Lilian Bull, May Queen of New Westminster, who was flown over for the ceremony. It was dedicated by the Bishop of New Westminster, Rt. Rev. Godfrey P. Gower.

1,000 MADE HOMELESS BY SHATTERING BLAST

MOUNT PULASKI, Ill. (AP)—The shattering explosion of a railroad tank car spread devastation through this town of 1,500 persons Sunday, leaving some 1,000 temporarily homeless.

Two railroad men were killed and one was injured seriously in the violent blast. More than a score of persons were hurt by flying glass and debris. Cause of the blast was not immediately determined.

Damage was estimated by town officials as $1,000,000. Officials said a survey indicated that two-thirds of the town's some 400 homes were damaged and not immediately habitable.

Lost Girl Lived On Grass for Week

RAINY RIVER, Ont. (CP)—

An 11-year-old girl who lived on grass and weeds while lost in dense bush for a week sat up in hospital here Sunday and tucked into good-sized meals.

Carol Johnson was found asleep Saturday beside a fallen tree five miles from her farm home at Bergland, 13 miles north of this northwestern Ontario town on the international border.

Dr. G. E. S. Fraser, who is attending the girl, said that apart from a mild fever, bramble scratches, sunburn and wood-tick bites to her feet and legs, she is in good condition and will be allowed home in a day or two.

ASKS FOR ICE CREAM

He said the grass diet had not upset her appetite — her first request in hospital was for ice cream.

The girl told her mother, Mrs. Walter Johnson, that she had said her prayers every night just as she had been taught.

"I was just going out to find daddy's cattle," Carol said when asked why she wandered off.

The wet and shivering girl was found when more than 500 searchers started out on what was to be the last day of the hunt.

"Oh, I'm so glad you found me," she said when a party of searchers came upon her. She told them: "I wasn't a bit afraid."

WAVED AT PLANES

During the week searchers flushed several large bears in the area but Carol said she had not seen any.

350 B.C. Militia To Attend Camp At Albert Head

More than 350 members of Army militia units from Victoria, Vancouver and inland B.C. cities will attend a camp June 14 to 21 at Albert Head conducted by the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

Attending will be personnel of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's), Seaforth Highlanders from Vancouver, Westminster Regiment and the Rocky Mountain Rangers.

Shortly after the camp, the Patricia's will leave for a regular force camp at Wainwright, Alta.

The girl said she waved to search planes. However, the cover was too thick for the air searchers to see the youngster.

She was wearing only a cotton blouse and a jumper-type skirt and was barefooted when found. Carol told her mother she was carrying her shoes so as not to lose them.

It rained heavily Friday and temperatures dropped to freezing several nights.

"I was praying constantly and I was answered by God," said the girl's mother Sunday. "I had faith that I would see her again, even though the rest thought she was dead."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

The average temperature for May of 56.9 degrees was the highest ever recorded here, according to the city weather office.

Temperature average for last month was 3.4 degrees above normal, and the extremes recorded were 81.2 on the 18th, and 41.2 on the 13th.

There were seven days of measurable rain, or two less than normal, while the total fall for the month was 1.08 inches, 15 above normal.

Firemen were called to the home of Barbara Smythe, 2774 Tudor, at about 7 a.m. today when the smoking radio set filled the kitchen with fumes.

The radio was a total loss while the range and kitchen received minor damage.

Doncaster-Cedar Hill PTA will hold its annual tea for parents of children starting school in September on Wednesday, at 2:30 p.m., in Doncaster School auditorium.

Francis Sampson, Brentwood Bay, was sentenced in city police court today to three months in jail for his third impaired driving conviction.

He was given 15 days concurrent for driving while under suspension after pleading guilty to both charges.

Police said he was seen at 5:10 p.m. Sunday driving west on Fisgard, weaving from side to side, striking and straddling a curb and finally stopping after the car brushed a power pole.

For one and one-half hours this morning, the flag atop the pole at the lookout in Beacon Hill Park was upside-down.

It was reversed around 9 a.m. after reports to city hall. "I don't know how it happened," said parks commissioner W. H. Warren. "Somebody must have been asleep."

TUESDAY MEETINGS

Bombings Protested By Orthodox Douks

A convention of orthodox Doukhobors at Grant Forks wired a protest today to Premier W. A. C. Bennett concerning recent terrorism in the Kootenays.

A telegram, signed by J. P. Rilkoff, chairman; Ignace P. Makeeff, secretary, and John J. Veregin, of the Union of Spiritual Communities of Christ, demand 4 apprehension of persons responsible for a bus depot bombing last week at Nelson.

The 32-foot cruiser Marcia broke down near William Head late Saturday, and was towed in by a B.C. Pilotage launch.

The cruiser suffered a mechanical breakdown in calm weather after watching the start of the Swiftsure race.

Pilotage reports there were two men, a woman and five children aboard. The cruiser proceeded to the RVYC anchorage at Cadboro Bay after repairs were completed.

A suggestion that the July Saanich by-election for the reeveship of Saanich be delayed until the December elections, to save costs, was made today by Eugene Diespecker, who unsuccessfully contested the office last year.

A by-election is required to replace Reeve Arthur Ash, retiring from office on June 7 for business reasons.

But the suggestion was coldly received by the Department of Municipal Affairs, which said it would be creating a precedent and would not be in accordance with the Municipal Act.

Charles Norman Thompson, Latoria Road, was fined $25 and $6.50 costs in Colwood RCMP court today when he pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance in a restaurant.

An immediate public withdrawal of statements made by former CCF House leader Arthur Turner in Vancouver Saturday, was demanded by Premier Bennett today.

Mr. Turner, a Vancouver newspaper reported, told the annual convention of the CCF in Vancouver, he was reliably informed civil service appointments must all be approved by the premier, except in the case of mental health service employees.

Two nine-inch slabs of fruit cake destined for someone's wedding fell prey to burglars who broke into Jacob's Bakery, 305 Cook.

Entry was discovered Saturday afternoon. Police suspect juveniles.

Gordon Caldwell, 26, of 1152 Johnson, was treated for head cuts at Jubilee Hospital Saturday night after crashing through a window of a Government Street hotel.

He had tried to "referee" a disturbance between three newly-discharged soldiers and two beer-parlor waiters.

Why the argument? The soldiers wanted to take away a beer parlor table.

They claim that, because of neglect, he developed an infection of his right leg, now almost four inches shorter than the left.

The infection is said to have developed after the hospital took a blood test from one of the boy's toes preceding circumcision. He was then five days old.

Mr. Wootton submitted that the hospital took every possible precaution in taking blood tests. The toe was swabbed with alcohol, then punctured with a sterilized hypodermic needle and swabbed off again with alcohol.

He argued that the boy's affliction—arising from osteomyelitis, a bone disease—was not necessarily the result of the blood test.

Addressing Mr. Trotter, Mr. Wootton said: "In spite of all generally recognized standards of procedure and all precautions taken in piercing, puncturing or cutting the skin, micro-organisms could by bad luck enter the body."

Dr. Trotter: "Yes, I suppose that is true."

Defence Opens In Hospital 'Neglect' Case

A Victoria doctor admitted in the B.C. Supreme Court today that in spite of all precautions taken in puncturing a patient's skin it is possible for infectious micro-organisms to enter the body.

Dr. A. E. Trotter made this admission under cross-examination by R. A. Wootton, QC, who is defending St. Joseph's Hospital against a charge of neglect leading to infection of a newborn baby.

The hospital is being sued by six-year-old Michael John Hillier of 1961 Ash Street, and his parents, Petty Officer Ellis W. Hillier, RCN, and Mrs. Hillier.

STOPPED GROWTH

They claim that, because of neglect, he developed an infection of his right leg, now almost four inches shorter than the left.

The infection is said to have developed after the hospital took a blood test from one of the boy's toes preceding circumcision. He was then five days old.

Committee to Enforce Rigid Zoo Regulation

Rigid control of all British Columbia zoos has been placed in the hands of a five-man committee by the provincial cabinet.

The committee will set regulations, which may vary for various zoo applicants, conduct inspections, and revoke licences where high standards are not achieved and maintained.

Recreation and Conservation Minister E. C. Westwood said today, in announcing the committee's powers:

"There will be very rigid control. It is possible some of the establishments now operating will be required to go to heavy expense to remain in operation."

The committee's powers are effective today. The Hertel zoo at Nanaimo, where a little girl was killed by an escaped lioness last month, will be "immediately investigated."

LIMITED TIME

"The committee will lay down the regulations, give Mr. Hertel a limited time if alterations are required, then if he doesn't comply he'll just have to close."

The committee is headed by F. R. Butler, B.C. fish and game branch.

Members are Dr. J. Hatter, chief game biologist; T. I. Hughes, secretary-manager of B.C. SPCA; Dr. Ian McTaggart Cowan, UBC department of zoology, and Allan Best, Stanley Park zoo curator.

The minister said game warden will also carry out zoo inspections and SPCA groups throughout the province will "no doubt be watching very closely."

ORDER-IN-COUNCIL

The order-in-council establishing the committee powers also gives authority to game warden to shoot on sight, any escaped animal. Mr. Westwood said the order will cover five existing zoos and bird and animal showplaces in B.C.

ORIOLE TO FINISH IF IT TAKES ALL WEEK

Three Yachts Still Plodding Toward Home

The Swiftsure, race classic is still on today, as far as the largest and smallest entries are concerned.

Still out in Juan de Fuca Strait, drifting homeward at press time, were the 90-foot HMCS Oriole, the 28-foot Mischief, and the 33-foot Blue Wave.

Oriole's only purpose is to finish the race, if it takes her all week. The big training yacht needs at least a fresh breeze to move her along, and she's had nothing but flat calm.

On the other hand, Mischief of Portland Yacht Club and Blue Wave, West Vancouver Yacht Club, mean business.

They're the last of five yachts entered in "B" class, and whichever one wins will pick up the B class trophy, no matter how long their elapsed time.

The race became official when the first yacht finished Sunday within 55-hour 33-minute time limit.

Shortly before noon, Mischief was reported in company with Oriole off Sheringham Point, about 15 miles from Race Rocks.

Seattle Yacht Winner Of 'Driftsure' Race

Only 17 of 39 Finish Classic

By MONTE ROBERTS

The slowest Swiftsure classic on record was also the toughest and most intriguing for died-in-the-brine yachtsmen.

And for all but 17 of the record entry of 39 boats, it was the most frustrating.

Very light winds, perverse tides, periods of glassy calm in doldrum-like air, combined to put a premium on patience, perseverance, skill—and racing luck.

Only 17 boats had crossed the finish line at Ogden Point by midnight Sunday. Most of the rest had given up and powered back to port. First to break off and call it a race was a yacht with excellent sailing qualities, a previous Swiftsure winner, Carl Jensen's Adios.

Skipper Jensen ran into a continuous series of calms and adverse currents, headed for home before 3 p.m. Saturday. He was followed by another dozen yachts before the day was out.

Diamond Head, winner of the City of Victoria Trophy for first boat home, took 50 hours, 19 minutes, 50 seconds to complete the 136.2 nautical mile course. Her skipper-owner, Max Wyman, estimates they sailed more than double that distance in search of a breeze.

Only for a brief period Saturday, when the yachts cleared Juan de Fuca Strait and caught a brisk southeasterly beyond Cape Flattery did any of the yachts show racing speed.

It was here that John Graham in Maruffa, last year's triple crown winner, made his bid. He cracked on all sail after leading the field around the lightship headed for the U.S. coast—and disaster.

TOOK LEAD 10 TIMES

To indicate the time of race it was, Diamond Head took the lead 10 times, lost it nine times, before crossing the line first.

Ono, the overall winner with a corrected time of 42 hours, 16 minutes, 49 seconds, also had anything but an easy time of it. She and Panacea, another K38 racer with an identical time handicap, covered each other all the way until Ono slipped inside Race Passage and picked up a vagrant breeze off William Head while Panacea was becalmed.

Ono also won the trophy in 1952.

Crews of the winning yachts unanimously agreed it was a thing but fascinating two days. There was no time for sleep, and little for food or drink, as each crew chased what little winds there were all over the Strait.

Early Sunday morning, yachts remaining in the race were scattered over a 20-square-mile area, giving the shepherd RCN ships a tough time keeping track of them all.

Race committee officials—who today said officially this was the slowest Swiftsure since the race started in 1930—credited the winning crews with a combination of a great deal of hard work and a little touch of luck.

Class results with corrected times: AA-1, Diamond Head, Seattle YC, 45 hours, 48 minutes; 2, Albatross, Corinthian YC, 45 hours, 30 minutes; 3, Sea Fever, 45 hours, 30 minutes; 4, Westward Ho, Corinthian YC, 50 hours, 22 minutes.

A-1, Kate II, Seattle YC, 43 hours, 32 minutes; 2, Lancer, Seattle YC, 43 hours, 32 minutes; 3, Nautilus IV, Seattle YC, 43 hours, 40 minutes; 4, Buccaneer II, Royal Vancouver YC, 44 hours, 4 minutes; 5, Serenade, Seattle YC, 44 hours, 47 minutes; 6, Gomera, Royal Vancouver YC, 50 hours, 22 minutes.

BB-1, Ono, Seattle YC, 42 hours, 16 minutes; 2, Panacea II, Seattle YC, 42 hours, 48 minutes; 3, Karen-IV, Corinthian YC, 43 hours, 27 minutes; 4, Crested, Royal Vancouver YC, 47 hours, 22 minutes; 5, Totem, Corinthian YC, 49 hours, 14 minutes.

SOLARIUM CANVASSERS START ONE-HOUR BLITZ AT 6 TONIGHT

Volunteer canvassers will cover Greater Victoria tonight between 6 and 7 p.m. for the annual one-hour drive in aid of Queen Alexandra Solarium.

Some canvassers are still needed in scattered areas, and officials of the Junior League, sponsoring the drive will take applications up to the last moment. Volunteers are asked to telephone 4-9301 or 5-9775.

The "Shower of Dimes" last year raised about $20,000 for care and treatment of crippled children at the Solarium. No objective has been set this year.

Car, Gravel Truck In Separate Flips

Six Injured in Weekend Traffic; Heavy Vehicle Damage Recorded

Six people went to hospital and damage totalled in the thousands as a result of seven traffic crashes at the weekend and today.

Most spectacular were ones in which 15 and 16-year-old Victoria boys got bounced around early Sunday when their car hit a pole and a tree, then turned over and when truck driver John Gerhardt, 907 Darwin, lost control of his truck at Patricia Bay Highway today, spilling gravel into a ditch, when it rolled.

The juveniles were taken with shock and head cuts to St. Joseph's Hospital and later discharged after their accident at Rockland and Green Oaks.

Police said the car, travelling on Rockland, sideswiped a power pole continued toward Oak Bay Avenue and struck a tree, turning over opposite 1750 Rockland. Damage was heavy.

SHAKEN UP The trucker, employed by the highways department, was shaken up when his truck tipped and spilled six yards of gravel near Mt. Newton Cross Road.

Police said he swerved to avoid hitting two cars ahead of him, one of which was signalling for a left turn onto Mt. Newton. The truck went off the highway and sustained about $150 damage.

Mrs. William Potter, Sidney, was taken to Rest Haven Hospital with chest and back injuries after the car driven by her husband was in collision with another car on Patricia Bay Highway at Keating Cross Road.

Driver of the other car, Richard Gaines, 4154 Torquay, was fined $200 and $3 costs in court.

Chinatown Lions Elect Officers Eric Joe, 1810A Government St., has been elected president of the Victoria (Chinatown) Lions Club succeeding Philip Chan.

Elk Lake hall of Saanich fire department was credited along with those who pulled Karakai from the water, with "a good save."

Resuscitator equipment was brought within minutes and used on the beach.

Firemen were told Karakai, who has lived in Canada 18 months, tried to swim from the shore to a diving raft about 60 feet from the lakeshore.

BANKERS CHASE SCOUTS FOR 'HANDOUTS'

Silver Money Famine Looms As Strike Hits Deliveries

City shopkeepers who now have a shortage of customers because of the steamship strike may soon go short of a commodity as vital.

Small change. A city bank official said today a strike against Black Ball Ferries could result in a shortage of silver money on Vancouver Island.

The situation is looming so crucial, it is understood, Boy Scouts who collected dimes and quarters during their recent Apple Week were asked to turn over the silver to city banks in exchange for bills.

The official said dimes, quarters and 50-cent pieces normally brought to the Island by CPR ferry were shipped by truck early in the strike, but this was found to be too expensive and Black Ball to Nanaimo will be used for future shipments.

TOO COSTLY "The truckers wanted the money carried in small amounts—$4,000 worth instead of the more usual much-larger amounts—because of the weight and the need for guards. But this brought a big increase in shipping costs, so we shall have to ship the silver by Black Ball to Nanaimo next month, then pick it up and bring it to Victoria."

The bank spokesman said barges will be used if Black Ball is struck, "but shipments may be wider spaced because of the resultant higher costs. This may bring some shortage of silver on the Island. The situation is not serious yet, but it soon could be."

SHOPPING GUIDE

New Suede Windbreaker Features Built-In Shirt!

By PENNY SAVER

Latest rage in men's wear (and I do mean a rage!) is the shirt and windbreaker combination. A cotton poplin shirt sewn into a suede, rain-resistant jacket makes this a practical garment indeed. It's in two-tone brown and is selling for $18.50.

And men, because the jacket is suede... you can be sure it will last for years!

Confirmed windbreaker wearers... look! Those ever-popular jackets are now buttoned with four clasps at the waist leaving a loose V-front. They're rain-resistant and washable too!

These snazzy toppers will lend themselves to our comparatively mild climate. Be one of the first in town to sport one at $7.95 each!

He's gone swimming... and in a pair of the sharpest looking tartan trunks ever seen! Made by a famous-name manufacturer, those eye-catching colors (Black Watch tartan included) will brighten up local beaches all summer. Elastic waists and small pockets jazz up these trunks and make them worth that price of $5.95.

Ivy League? You bet! I mean of course, corduroy pin-striped trousers for the menfolk. Straight cut gives a man a slim, trim look and the strap back... and well, need we say more? Fashion-wise males will certainly go for that! These trousers are in neutral shade at $9.95 a pair.

Gunny cloth slacks are another style trend for our menfolk this season. They're light, cool and wear like canvas! No wonder men are starting to wear them for gardening, work, golfing and all casual wear. They're selling at $7.95 a pair in soft muted tones... to mix 'n match with all shades.

Shopping for the man? Then phone me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where to look.

Name May Change, Motto Alter—Ideals Remain

HALIFAX (CP)—The 58th annual meeting of the National Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, began officially here Saturday night with opening ceremonies and greetings by Nova Scotia's Lieutenant-Governor E. C. Plow, Attorney-General R. A. Donahue and Mayor C. A. Vaughan of Halifax.

Mrs. A. K. Richardson of Toronto, IODE national president, told delegates that although the name of the order might some day be changed and its motto—'one flag, one throne, one empire'—altered, its basic democratic ideals never would be.

She said: "Even though it may be felt by some that the motto and name are outdated, I still am proud to use them, for they are symbols of an old and honorable regime." She told delegates they owe loyalty to ideals of godliness, justice and freedom, for which the British monarchy stood.

About 200 delegates from all parts of Canada are attending the convention.

The Mayfair award of merit was presented to the organization on behalf of the editors of Mayfair magazine. The award is presented annually to an organization or institution which has contributed above and beyond the call of duty to Canada.

Mrs. Richardson accepted the gift—a silver tray—for the 32,000 IODE members throughout Canada.

She reviewed the order's history since its founding in 1901, noting that its educational program had grown from "the granting of gold and silver medals for essay contests and preparing patriotic programs for schools" to $280,000 spent annually on education of Canadian boys and girls.

A GOLDEN WEDDING DAY

Mr. and Mrs. John Cruickshank will be at home to friends at their home, 2826 Prior Street, on Tuesday from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m., on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. It will be a triple celebration as it is also Mr. Cruickshank's birthday and the 21st wedding anniversary of a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. Glover. Mr. and Mrs. Cruickshank were married in Aberdeen, Scotland, on June 3, 1908, and have lived in Victoria for 49 years. They have a son and a daughter, nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

THE PROOF OF POPULARITY!

I have tested the mileage and have had very good results. I also find it possesses exceptional pickup on the highway.

Yours very truly,
D. J. D. D.
Calgary, Alta.

The roadability of the vehicle is perfect. Smooth and easy to drive, and I enjoyed particularly the coil spring suspension.

Yours truly,
H. H. D. D.
Montreal, Que.

The ride is excellent and my gas mileage is exceptionally good. Although I am 6'4", I have plenty of room to drive very comfortably even with a hat on.

Yours truly,
A. H. B. B.
Port Dover, Ont.

It handled like a sports car yet the ride felt like a much heavier car. No oil was used at all and gas mileage averaged an amazing twenty-four miles to the gallon.

Yours truly,
S. J. J. J.
St. Boniface, Man.

I have driven Pontiacs for the last ten years and this 1958 Pontiac is the best one yet. Its looks and performance are outstanding in every way.

Yours truly,
M. M. M. M.
Fort William, Ont.

The graceful lines of its styling are most attractive, and in my estimation are more impressive than many of the bigger car lines.

Yours truly,
R. A. A. A.
Swift Current, Sask.

I'm very well pleased with the car. I highly recommend Pontiac.

Yours truly,
M. J. J. J.
Port Arthur, Ont.

I am completely satisfied that I made the wisest buy when I bought my Pontiac.

Yours truly,
R. C. C. C.
Oakville, Ont.

As an owner of one of these fine cars I find it excellent in roadability, comfort and economy. I would also like to point out the obvious fact that Pontiac this year is easily the finest looking car in its field.

Yours truly,
L. W. W. W.
Sydney, N.S.

An indication of our complete satisfaction with the 1958 Pontiac, we are placing orders for additional cars for immediate delivery.

Yours very truly,
J. J. J. J.
Calgary, Alta.

We particularly commend the button at the side for the windshield wipers and the easy manipulation of the emergency brake. Back seat "riders" have told us that the riding is very smooth and as the sole driver I find of the car, I like the broad vision mirror and the power steering. I find the car beautiful to handle and if I could just leave Mother at home one time, I'm sure "Debbie" could show her heels to the best car on the road! She seems to have so much power for a small car.

Sincerely yours,
A. H. H. H.
Victoria, B.C.

The styling and performance as in the past prove to me that Pontiac is still the best.

Yours truly,
W. H. H. H.
Saskatoon, Sask.

This is the fifth Pontiac I have driven and, while the previous cars have been highly satisfactory, I find that this 1958 Pontiac is a real performer in every respect.

Best regards,
J. J. J. J.
Winnipeg, Man.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Suspect Charged
In Four Holdups

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — A 28-year-old man was charged on four counts after a $2,300 supermarket holdup here Saturday.

Edward Lowes is charged with the Saturday holdup at the east-end supermarket and three drugstore holdups dating back to April 26 in which the loot totalled $130.

The supermarket gunman fired a shot at store manager Sydney Jameson, 25, as he fled. The money and a .45-caliber automatic were later found in a car picked up by police.

The store was crowded with late Saturday shoppers when the holdup man showed a gun to cashier Alice Monner, 20, and grabbed money from the till.

MURDER POSSIBILITY — VANCOUVER — A woman found Saturday lying on an east-side street here suffering severe head injury died 12 hours later in hospital without recovering consciousness.

Police said there is a possibility she was murdered. They said Mrs. Jean Hay, 44, died as a result of brain hemorrhage resulting from a skull fracture caused by a one-inch wound on the side of the head.

Officers said Mrs. Hay had visited a Canadian Legion branch Friday night two blocks from the spot where she was found lying face-down in the roadway. She was spotted by a couple in a passing car soon after midnight.

TEACHER KILLED — NELSON — A Trail school teacher died and her husband was critically injured Saturday night when their late-model car left the Salmo-Trail highway and exploded in flames eight miles southwest of Salmo.

Police said Mrs. Alexander Bell was instantly killed when thrown from the wrecked car. In critical condition with multiple fractures in Trail-Tadana Hospital is Alexander Bell, employee at the HB mine at Salmo.

Drive to Save 'Curiosity' Power House

Electrical engineers will hold a meeting at the B.C. Electric Building at 8 p.m. Wednesday, to discuss campaign plans for the preservation of the old B.C. Electric power house at Japan Gulch near Goldstream.

A. F. Thomason, chairman of the historical committee of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, Victoria branch, said all interested organizations are invited.

"We plan to submit a proposal to save the old historic plant from being dismantled," he said.

The plant, on watershed property, was shut down a few years ago after 60 years of service. It is believed to be the oldest power plant on the Pacific Northwest.

B.C. Electric plans to dismantle the plant this summer.

Mayor Percy Scourah is supporting the campaign to preserve the powerhouse as a museum. In 50 years it would be a real curiosity, he said.

Businessman
J. H. Speer
Dies at Duncan

DUNCAN (CP) — John Herbert Speer, 62, well known and prominent businessman of this city, died Saturday following a sudden illness.

He was a partner in the auditing and accounting firm of Speer and Price.

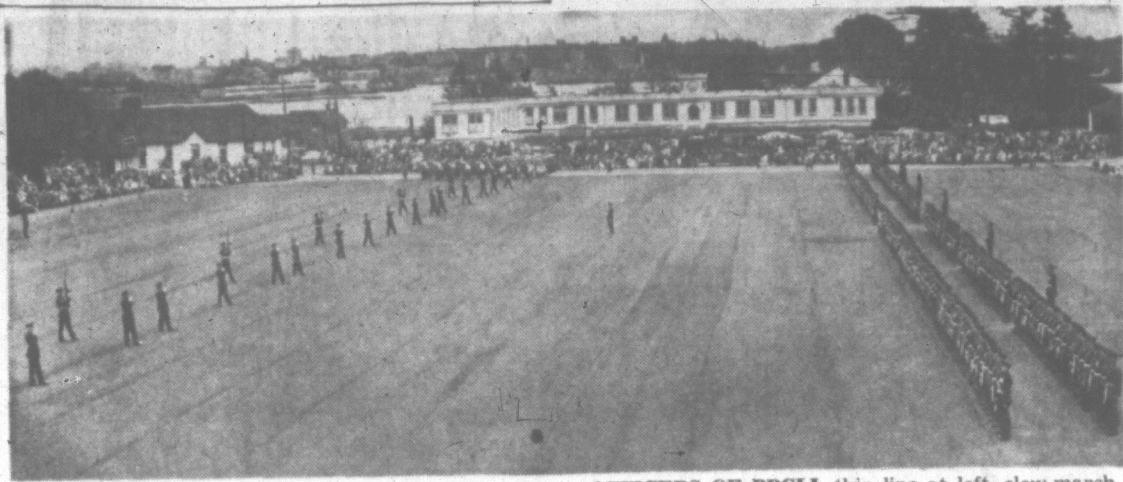

Born in England, he came to Canada in 1911, first residing in Vancouver. He was a member of the Rotary Club here, the Fourandex Club, Vancouver, and a charter member of the Canadian Arts Club and the Alpine Club of Canada.

VLC Studying Chamber Letter

An open letter from Victoria Chamber of Commerce, refuting claims by local unionists that the chamber is not interested in the welfare of the working man, is still being studied, council secretary-treasurer A. W. Toone, said today. The letter was delivered to council president Robert Barrie by chamber directors Friday. It was in answer to statements attributed to certain unionists that the chamber represents primarily the interests of big business and "has an underlying motive of greed and profit."

In their open letter officials declared chamber policy was not anti-labor and recognized the trade union movement as "a major force" in the Canadian economy. It noted, however, that probably most Canadians were opposed to the use of the strike weapon for the settlement of disputes in essential services where a work stoppage was contrary to the public interest.

Mr. Toone declined to say

'I'LL QUIT' WARNS DE GAULLE

PARIS (UPI)—Gen Charles de Gaulle tonight angrily threatened to quit after only 24 hours as premier if the balky National Assembly refuses to approve his constitutional reform plan.

De Gaulle went before the assembly in an effort to whip his program through.

Earlier de Gaulle won approval today for two-thirds of his program designed to save France from chaos.

But he faced a major legislative battle on the remaining, and perhaps most critical, part of his proposals in the reluctant National Assembly.

A government spokesman issued a statement strongly implying that de Gaulle might let France slip into virtual anarchy unless he wins on all three issues.

The deputies voted 322 to 232 to allow de Gaulle to run France for six months without parliamentary interference. But the Assembly completely rewrote the bill to limit sharply the areas in which he could rule by decree.

Earlier, it had quickly passed, 337 to 199, a bill extending the government's emergency powers in Algeria—powers that had been given routinely to a succession of French cabinets.

A third bill to permit changes to be made in the constitution by the people rather than by the Assembly was still up for consideration. And it could be the stumbling block to de Gaulle's success.

The general has insisted that he receive approval for all three measures before he acts to solve the crisis that almost provoked civil war.

"These bills remain an absolutely essential previous condition on setting up a government," a spokesman for de Gaulle said.

"It is not until after all three have been adopted by parliament that de Gaulle will complete his cabinet and will define the functions of the ministers and secretaries of state he has named."

The Assembly voted the tall, grim-faced wartime leader into office by a vote of 329 to 224 Sunday night.

The general made his sweeping demands in a cold, calm six-minute speech to the hushed chamber. He needed the powers, he said, to avert a "break-up and perhaps civil war" in France.

Rising also to plague the new government was mounting disapproval in Algiers over membership of the de Gaulle cabinet.

A particular sore point was the selection of de Gaulle's predecessor, Pierre Pflimlin, as minister of state. Only last week Algiers throngs were demanding: "Pflimlin to the gallows."

The French army Sunday night clamped a virtual martial law regime on Algeria, giving the army under Gen. Raoult Salan—French commander-in-chief there—complete power over the civil administration.

The decree signed by Salan was issued after indications that the more extremist French settlers in Algeria were deeply disappointed by de Gaulle's program speech and cabinet list.

In particular, they were reported bitter that it did not include Jacques Soustelle, fiery de Gaulle supporter.

Khrushchev Hits
At NORAD Pact

OTTAWA (CP)—Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev says Canada must share some responsibility for the "peace-endangering flights of American planes with atomic and hydrogen bombs to the borders of the Soviet Union."

He makes the statement in a letter dated May 30 delivered to Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Saturday, by D. S. Chuvahin, Soviet Ambassador to Canada. Text of the letter was published in today's issue of the Soviet news bulletin issued here by the press office of the Russian Embassy.

Premier Khrushchev also reproaches Mr. Diefenbaker for not persuading the United States and Britain to halt nuclear testing.

Referring to the flights of American bombers, the Soviet premier said:

"We state with profound regret that the government of Canada has not refrained from sharing with the government of the U.S.A. to a certain degree the responsibility for such flights; this is testified to by the recent signing of an agreement between the U.S.A. and Canada on the unification of the command of the air forces of both countries."

Premier Khrushchev was referring to the North American Air Defence Command established jointly by Canada and the United States. The two countries signed an agreement May 20.

Diversion of the 10 per cent federal sales tax into municipal coffers was proposed today by the president of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

L. D. Jackson, mayor of Hamilton, Ont., advanced the suggestion at the 1958 convention in the Empress Hotel "entirely on my own responsibility" when he delivered the 1958 presidential address to more than 400 delegates.

"Such a move on the part of the federal government would be an important contribution towards easing the municipal financial burden and would fully protect the independence of the municipalities," he said.

Unofficial tally of delegates and wives attending the convention was placed at 600 today with more expected to turn up.

Bulk of the delegates arrived Sunday after special arrangements with Black Ball Ferries and Vancouver Island Coach Lines were made to get them over from the mainland in spite of the seamen's strike against CPR ferries.

Convention opening ceremonies included a devotional period led by Rev. H. J. Jones of St. Mary's Anglican Church, Oak Bay.

Welcomes were extended to delegates by B.C. Municipal Affairs Minister W. D. Black and Mayor Percy Scurrell. Windsor Mayor Michael Patrick welcomed visiting U.S. mayors and Calgary Mayor D. H. MacKay welcomed visiting provincial ministers of municipal affairs and their deputies.

Mayor Jackson said municipal governments were in the "front line trenches" of the battle to meet increasing demands for the services by all three levels of government.

The bulk of municipal financing is based on real estate and business taxes which do not respond to rises in the price structure as do the revenue sources of provincial and federal governments.

"I contend that (municipal government) is the most important level of government because we are closer to the people," he said.

With municipal revenue sources stripped by the senior governments, municipalities "too long in this triumvirate of government have been taking an inferior position."

Mr. Taylor made the statement in Vancouver after separate meetings during the week-end with management and union representatives at a secret rendezvous.

He said he was against municipalities shedding any of their responsibilities because local government "is the very fabric of our Canadian life. When local government becomes a mere spending arm of a higher level of government, we might be getting under way Tuesday between Black Ball Ferries and three unions seeking pay increases.

The SIU, as well as the National Association of Marine Engineers and the Canadian Merchant Service Guild have voted to strike Black Ball to back up pay demands, but no deadline has been set.

"Too often we hear of municipal organizations and individual mayors appealing to the senior governments to take over this or that," he said. "If we were taken at our word, we would soon pass out of the picture."

He said he was against municipalities shedding any of their responsibilities because local government "is the very fabric of our Canadian life. When local government becomes a mere spending arm of a higher level of government, we might

'Not Hopeful'

DEFENCE CHARGES

Bribe Papers Saved
For 'Ultior Motive'

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Crown's key witness in the Sommers bribery trial today was again charged by the defence with having "an ulterior motive" while employed as a bookkeeper for one of four companies accused in the case.

The accusation came from defence counsel J. R. Nicholson as accountant Charles Eversfield, formerly with Pacific Coast Services Ltd., took the stand for the eighth day.

Eversfield flatly denied having any such motive.

Central figure is former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers who resigned his portfolio in 1956 but still is a member of the legislature. Also charged in the 18-count indictment are H. W. Gray, John Gray, C. D. Schultz, the C. D. Schultz Company Limited, Pacific Coast Services, Evergreen Lumber Sales and B.C. Coast Products.

Mr. Nicholson questioned Eversfield closely on a number of "working papers" which he compiled while at Pacific. They were among bundles of documents which he took from company files when he left in March, 1955, and which now form the basis of the Crown's case.

The defence lawyer, who is acting for H. W. Gray and the Pacific and Evergreen firms, said to the witness: "I suggest you were accumulating ammunition, that's why you had such a multiplicity of documents; you completed them and then recompensed."

"You had an ulterior objective, an ulterior motive in mind."

"That is absolutely incorrect, Mr. Nicholson," Eversfield replied.

The witness went on to explain that he had to re-do these documents several times at the instance of Mr. Gray. The documents were supposed to show how moneys were to be split between Gray, Sommers and Schultz.

Eversfield testified under further cross-examination that he would estimate there were some 20 transactions through the alleged split fund and said probably a total of eight of them involved moneys from the C. D. Schultz firm.

Publicly-Owned
Columbia Power
Plan by Bennett

By PETE LOUDON

Premier W. A. C. Bennett today announced the huge hydro development of the Columbia River—when approved by federal and U.S. authorities—will be by a public agency, rather than a private firm.

He added, "But I didn't say the B.C. Power Commission."

He said if a financial partnership in the project is reached with the federal government, Ottawa authorities may ask that a separate public hydro corporation be set up. He did not rule out the B.C. Power Commission as the developing body, however.

The premier said, "We hope the power developed will be available to both private and public power distribution. But the actual development will be a public power project."

The premier's statement ended three years of speculation. CCF members in the legislature have repeatedly questioned the government on the development.

The announcement was contained in general remarks by the premier concerning the provincial convention of the CCF in Vancouver over the weekend.

The convention renewed the party's stand for public development of all B.C. power. Party leader Robert Strachan claimed the next provincial election will be fought primarily on the issue of public power.

He said the Social Credit government and previous governments had acted to preserve the prosperity of the largest private power corporation in the province, the B.C. Electric. "The B.C. Electric has never lost an election," he said.

Blossoming Into Political Issue

The timing of the premier's statement on public power appeared to support the importance of the issue politically.

"I note the issue is now clear-cut between the Social Credit middle-of-the-road policies and state socialism," said Mr. Bennett.

"They have again endorsed the Regina Manifesto. The people of B.C. should not be lulled into thinking it is just the B.C. Electric (which would be taken over). That's just a stepping stone."

"Social Credit believes in both public power and private power. The CCF would take over the existing private power at a cost they admit to be in excess of $400,000,000, and they wouldn't create a single new job."

"The Social Credit government is always developing new power, creating new jobs and new industries. We certainly wouldn't use the people's money. We would use the credit of the province. . . .

"When the federal government settles with the U.S. on downstream benefits, power, irrigation and flood control . . . as I have intimated before, development will be by public power. It will create new jobs and prime the economy of the province.

"The CCF would put the cold hand of state socialism on the industry of the province," he added.

Federal government studies on the Upper Columbia River development are still incomplete. Important reports are expected by the end of this year, concerning best methods of using the river potential.

The basic plan is for a high level dam at Mica Creek, just south of the Big Bend of the Columbia. Five years ago it was estimated to cost $300,000,000. It would produce 1,200,000

All-Canada Cartoon
Stars Daring Pilot

A new all-Canadian cartoon strip of high adventure makes its bow on Page 12 today.

Its name is "Danny Fortune" and its locale covers the northern hemisphere, from Victoria to St. John's and from Niagara Falls to the North Pole.

The central figure, Danny Fortune, is an RCAF pilot who flies the fastest and the best in the jet age.

During the weeks to come you will follow him over the Arctic wastes, trailing spies in Ottawa, testing Canada's latest CF 105 aircraft, on rescue missions into the wilds, in fact, on anything the RCAF assigns him.

Danny is the creation of two ex-RCAF pilots, Bob McCormick and Bill Dulmage. Bob is a graduate of Ontario College of Art and Bill, who does the writing, from Carleton College School of Journalism.

Together, through Danny's personification, they do the things they'd still love to be doing since the days when they put their wartime flying experiences behind them. Start the strip on Page 12.

PAGE ONE CONFESSION BY ACQUITTED SLAYER

LONDON (Reuters) — A former business executive Sunday confessed in a front-page newspaper story to the slaying of a car dealer for whose murder he had been acquitted.

Donald Hume, 36, said in his Sunday Pictorial confession that "I murdered Stanley Setty in my flat" Oct. 4, 1949. "I stabbed him to death with a dagger while we were fighting," he said. At his trial in 1950, Hume denied he killed Setty.

He was found not guilty of murder but guilty of being an accessory in dumping Setty's dismembered body from a plane over the Essex marshes.

He was sentenced to 12 years in prison but was released last February after eight years.

Under British law a man cannot be retried for a crime of which he has been acquitted.

12 formally setting out principles governing operation of an integrated headquarters at Colorado Springs.

The Soviet premier was replying to a strongly-worded letter he received early in May from Mr. Diefenbaker expressing Canadian disappointment over Russia's United Nations veto of an American proposal for Arctic inspection.

Premier Khrushchev had appealed in a letter to Mr. Diefenbaker early in April for Canada to use her influence to get the U.S. and Britain to stop testing nuclear weapons.

CULTIVATE DISTRUST

The Russian premier said reservations and doubts expressed by Mr. Diefenbaker make it difficult "to avoid getting an impression that they are engendered in the last analysis by that distrust towards the Soviet Union which is constantly being cultivated in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization."

"For instance, your letter presents the matter in such a way as if the actions of the Soviet government against the peace-endangering flights of American planes with atomic and hydrogen bombs to the borders of the Soviet Union in a way reduce the importance of its (Russia's) decision to stop, from the spring of 1958, testing all types of nuclear weapons."

"Not to mention that those arguments contain a great deal of artificiality since they treat as similar such actions completely different in their nature as the cessation of nuclear weapon tests and the clearly provocative practice of the American strategic aviation; the very appraisal of the actions of the U.S.A. government in this matter is extremely one-sided."

DANGER TO CANADA

It would seem, the letter said, that leading statesmen of Canada, over whose territory the U.S. bombers are making flights "should not be indifferent to these flights, which also constitute, if the facts are to be faced, a grave danger for Canada itself."

"If there were quite a few occasions in the past when countries were drawn into wars contrary to their wishes and intentions then in our times this danger has increased a hundred times."

"You will probably deny the correctness of this statement," Premier Khrushchev told Mr. Diefenbaker. "Indeed, you will be most likely to do that referring to the good intentions of your people and your government."

"I am not going to question the sincerity of your arguments. But, Mr. Prime Minister, the logic of things can prove to be stronger than man's logic even if the latter is backed by the best motives."

Khrushchev asked whether the reaction of the Canadian government would be different if Russia started sending bombers carrying atomic bombs to the frontiers of Canada.

TO U.S.S.R. BORDERS

The Soviet premier said the present danger to peace is not constituted in the absence of aerial inspection in the Arctic but "exclusively in the flights of American bombers to the borders of the U.S.S.R."

He said he had expected to find in Mr. Diefenbaker's letter assurance that Canada would attempt to persuade the U.S. and Britain to stop nuclear testing.

"Some foundations for this were given to us by your recent statement in Toronto where you expressed the hope that the Western powers would soon end nuclear-weapon testing. Unfortunately your letter does not confirm this."

just a well "throw in our checks as far as democracy in Canada is concerned."

Besides appealing to senior governments for a fair share of the tax dollar, Mayor Jackson said municipalities could help themselves by careful planning and development of available revenue sources.

The convention's first debate on resolutions got off to a controversial start after Mayor Jackson's address when a charge of "scuttling" the convention was hurled by Mayor L. H. Henderson of Portage la Prairie.

Mayor Henderson demanded debate on each of the 53 resolutions submitted to the convention after the first resolutions committee report, dealing with four resolutions, recommended they be defeated.

"I want to say at the outset that I disagree with the resolutions committee," he said. "This is not a scuttling conference and all resolutions should be debated."

Mayor Henderson, who became a public figure earlier this year when he ran as an unsuccessful "dark horse" candidate for the Liberal party leadership, repeated the charge as the debate wore on.

George S. Mooney, executive director of the federation, defended the committee's recommendations as considered opinions made not to scuttle but to expedite business.

Delegates rejected only one of the committee's four recommendations by passing a resolution urging establishment of a federal government fund to help finance municipal public works.

Ald. Alex Jupp, of Regina, withdrew his delegation's resolution calling for establishment of a new federal government department for urban affairs when the committee pointed out that municipalities were under provincial, not federal, jurisdiction.

A resolution asking establishment of a federal loan fund for public works was defeated because it had been passed last year. Another urging federal subsidization of sewers and sewage disposal was turned down because it was outside federal jurisdiction.

kilowatts—half the total capacity of all existing hydro installations in B.C. at present.

Depending on the amount of downstream benefits returned to Canada by power developments in the northwestern states, the low cost power source means billions of dollars in primary and secondary industry in the Pacific Northwest.

One authority claims that for every dollar of cost expended on the Mica Creek proposal, the province can expect to realize up to $65 in production.

The question of whether the Columbia hydro development will proceed depends also on what steps are taken to develop the hydro potential of the Peace.

It was recently announced excellent dam sites have been located on the Peace by engineers of the Wenner-Gren survey. If the B.C. government co-operates in this vast development scheme, there is some question whether the Columbia development would proceed.

TICKET SHARED FOUR WAYS

5 Have Chance Here in 'Irish'

Five Victoria men have their fingers crossed today after their tickets in the Irish Sweepstakes were drawn on horses entered in the Epsom Derby to be run Wednesday.

Four of the men share a four-way ticket on Hard Ridden, a 20-1 shot among the possible 26 starters in the classic race.

The four are Wilfrid Jones, 48, of 2181 Haultain, co-owner of a service station; Dave Kenny, 41, of 1927 Qeaminchan, a salesman; C. W. Paulin, 58, of 959 Pembroke, finance company manager and Emil "Dutchy" Reid, 82, retired, 832 Old Esquimalt Road.

92-Year-Old Ex-Motorman Dies in City

Varner W. Dempsey, 92, a motorman on B.C. Electric streetcars from 1893 to 1940, when he retired, died Sunday night at his home, 3319 Douglas Street.

He was born in Barrie, Ont., and first came to Victoria in 1892.

Survivors include the widow, Anna Alezabeth, at home; a daughter, Mrs. M. Lohbrunner, and three sons, George Edmond, and Kenneth, all in Victoria; two grandchildren, and a brother in Alberta.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at McCall's, and interment will be at Colwood Burial Park.

The other ticket, on Veronese, is held by Jim Napper, 37, of 3400 Browning, a car salesman and commanding officer of the Navy League Cadets.

Non-de-plume of the four holding a ticket on Hard Ridden is "Kitchen Club," and Mr. Napper's pseudonym is "Evening."

Neither of the horses are favorites, with Veronese listed a doubtful starter. However, the ticket holders are sure of about $2,000 even if the horses fail to start.

Tickets on the winning horse will bring up to $140,000.

Soviet Boats 'Suspicious'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state department has notified Russia—in response to a Soviet complaint—that the U.S. Navy is keeping close watch on shipping in the ocean approaches to the United States.

Moscow had protested that U.S. aircraft had buzzed Soviet trawlers in international waters near the Grand Banks off Canada.

State department press officer Lincoln White said the Soviet complaint was made about mid-April and that it received a prompt answer.

Privately, informants said that the behavior of the Soviet trawler fleet along sea and air routes between the U.S. east coast and Europe is suspicious in some respects.

The Russian vessels were said to be in waters which are not normally heavily fished. They seem to have a large amount of electronic detection equipment such as radar. The number of vessels is constant, one arriving as another departs.

Canada Ballet Cheered As Mexico Tour Opens

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The National Ballet Company of Canada was given an enthusiastic reception Saturday night at a gala debut by a near-capacity audience at the Palace of Fine Arts.

Lois Smith scored a personal triumph in the role of Odette, queen of the swans, in Tchaikovsky's Swan Lake.

David Adams, as Prince Siegfried, also won rounds of applause.

It was the first time in Mexico that Tchaikovsky's classic had been presented in full four-act form.

TRIONPHANT FINALE

Maria Callas Exits From Famed La Scala

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Soprano Maria Callas sang a triumphant last performance at La Scala Saturday night but the ovation of a packed house did not alter her decision to quit the famed Milan opera.

She announced a week ago she would step down as La Scala's first lady because of a feud with the opera house superintendent.

She sang Bellini's Il Pirata. The audience called her back again and again. They cried "La Scala is yours. Come back." Twenty policemen lined up to restrain fans from throwing bouquets on the stage.

Her eyes filled with tears, Miss Callas said afterwards she will not change her mind.

"It's heartbreaking," the 34-year-old New York-born singer said, "but I won't be able to return next season. I need a long vacation."

Her feud with La Scala superintendent Antonio Ghiringhelli followed last year's music festival at Edinburgh. Officials there said she walked out after the third of four scheduled performances to attend a party given for her in Venice.

Ghiringhelli ordered her to apologize. She refused.

Last fall Miss Callas walked out after the first act of the Rome opening night opera, leaving Italy's president and a glittering audience fretting. She claimed she was unable to continue singing. Rome music lovers virtually booed her out of the city.

Singer Eddie Fisher Hit by Appendicitis

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Singer Eddie Fisher was stricken Saturday night with what his physician described as a mild attack of appendicitis.

Fisher was taken to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, but the doctor said the attack was not serious and there were no immediate plans to operate.

Newcomer From England Wins Festival Best Actress Award

VANCOUVER (CP)—Cynthia Chadwick, 21, who had no acting experience until she came to Canada from England two years ago, has been named best actress in the B.C. Drama Association's one-act play festival.

Joy Songdon won the best supporting actress award for her performance as Hon. Clare Wedderburn in the Victoria Theatre Guild's entry, Hands Across the Sea, by Noel Coward.

Miss Chadwick played Dodo in the Vernon Little Theatre's entry of an excerpt from the Christopher Fry comedy A Phoenix Too Frequent.

The Vernon group's performance Saturday won it the trophy as the best production at the festival. Director Mrs.

Arline Straw accepted the trophy. The best actor award went to Tom Whyte for his role of Henry Apjohn in the West Vancouver Little Theatre Guild's performance of How He Lied to Her Husband by George Bernard Shaw.

Charles Smith won the best supporting actor award for his

'CRAMPING CITY'

CPR Urged To Get Out Of Duncan

DUNCAN (CP) — Canadian Pacific Railway, whose subsidiary Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway uses extensive property in Duncan, was told by a city alderman it can best help the traffic problem here by "picking up its truckage and freight business and moving out of town."

Ald. James Saunders made the suggestion at a meeting between city council and railway officials. He was supported by consulting engineer Russell E. Potter of Victoria who said that for Duncan's future development, "the obvious thing will be to move the CPR out of town."

CRAMPING CITY

Mr. Potter said the railway is "cramping the city's growth and is itself being cramped."

"In 10 years neither of us will be able to expand properly to keep up with the growth," he added.

For the CPR, superintendent V. H. Hartley said the railway is not using all its available property and suggested the city widen one street to eliminate a bottleneck where freight trucks and trailers now load.

He said CPR truckage is adequate where it is located to handle traffic at present and for some time to come.

Langford Liberals Request Early Leadership Meet

A provincial Liberal leadership convention to be held as early as possible, was proposed by the Langford Liberal Association Friday night.

The association elected William Okell as president, Thomas Gordon, vice-president, and Mrs. Barbara Bayles, secretary. Directors are T. D. Dale, Mrs. Agnes Okell and Russell Eveleigh.

RELATIONS WITH FRANCE HIGHLIGHTS MAC'S VISIT

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan flies to North America this week for talks in Washington and Ottawa that take on a new aspect with the developments in France.

The talks can be expected to decide on a joint approach to Gen. Charles de Gaulle in an effort to ensure his loyalty to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Western military strategists are privately worried about the future of some defence bases — especially in North Africa.

The prime minister will spend Friday night in Washington, fly to de Pauw University in Indianapolis to deliver the commencement address Saturday, then return to Washington for top-level talks Monday and Tuesday. He flies to Ottawa Wednesday.

TRIAL CHARGE

Duplessis Sent Him To 'Economic Death'

OTTAWA (UPI)—A Montreal restaurateur was sentenced to "economic death" by Quebec authorities on the order of Premier Maurice Duplessis because he had put up bail for fellow Jehovah's Witnesses, Prof. Frank Scott of McGill University charged before the Supreme Court today.

Scott opened the case for Frank Roncarelli, a one-time wealthy businessman, now a salaried employee with the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, whose business was ruined after his liquor licence had been revoked by the Quebec Liquor Commission in Dec. 1956.

Roncarelli is asking for $90,000 damages from Duplessis on the grounds the licence was suspended on the personal order of the premier.

Scott said what was at stake was the right of a citizen to put up bail for accused persons without interference from civil authorities.

Roncarelli had put up $83,000 bail for 393 Jehovah's Witnesses for 2½ years before his licence was revoked. Scott pointed out all the Witnesses were charged for infractions of "petty by-laws" (distributing religious pamphlets in Montreal), that none was charged with sedition and none of more than 1,000 charged was convicted.

FISHERMEN FOUND SAFE

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP) — Two Campbell River men reported missing Saturday on a fishing trip were found Sunday afternoon by a Ground Observer Corps search and rescue team.

F. E. McCarthy, 69, and Norman Smith, 75, spent the night in their car after it broke down on rough logging roads. They suffered no ill effects.

The pair had passed through an Elk River Timber Co. logging road gate on their way to Middle Quinsam Lake Saturday afternoon but on their return the gate was locked, they said. The car broke down while they were searching for another exit.

Youth in Coma After Crash; Driver Arrested

COURTENAY — A Union Bay youth is in critical condition in St. Joseph's Hospital, Comox, and a Courtenay man faces an impaired driving charge after their car side-swiped a telephone pole two miles south of here.

William Tratinik, 18, was still unconscious today, more than 24 hours after the early Sunday morning accident.

He suffered a skull fracture and other injuries when the right side of the car where he was sitting was peeled back from front to rear by the pole.

DRIVER IN JAIL

Driver Charles Powers, about 30, suffered only minor arm injuries. Held in jail following the accident, he was scheduled to appear in police court today.

Another passenger, Carl Vennberg, 18, of Union Bay, was released from hospital after treatment of facial cuts.

Police said the three men were returning from a dance at Union Bay when the car left the road on a curve.

NO VICTORS BUT PLENTY OF VANQUISHED

A quick-witted Tory brought the house down today at the opening ceremonies of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities convention.

Calgary Mayor Donald MacKay, welcoming provincial ministers, asked if there were any representatives of the federal government present.

"If we haven't, we've certainly got a lot of unsuccessful candidates," quipped an unidentified delegate, touching off a roar of laughter and table-thumping.

"Let's put that down as the classic joke of the convention right now," replied Mayor MacKay, defeated Liberal candidate in the last federal election.
